MEYER'S NAME BROUGHT INTO $15,000 BRIBE INQUIRY

Circuit Attorney Asks Busch Railway Manager if Fifteenth Ward Alderman Asked Him for Money.

WITNESS IN COURT DECLINES TO ANSWER

A. L. Browne, However,
Admits Knowing Official
When Told He Must Answer Question.

Was it Harry W. Uhlemeyer of the Fifteenth Ward?
This question, asked by Circuit
Attorney Sidener in Judge Ittner's court yesterday afternoon, was the first public disclosure that the name of Alderman Uhlemeyer was involved in the grand jury's investigation of an alleged attempt to bribe an Alderman to solicit a $15-000 bribe from the Manufacturers' (Busch) Railway, in 1922, for passage of franchise extension for the railway.

The question was addressed to Alphonse L. Browne, general manager of the railroad, who was charged with contempt of court in having persistently refused to answer questions in the grand jury room, when efforts were being made to identify the alleged bribe reflector.

"I refused on my constitutional right to refuse to answer, for I do not know the man myself," was Browne's reply.

Previously, the Circuit Attorney, reading from a typewritten list of questions that Browne had been asked in the grand jury room, had asked the witness: "Do you know Alderman Uhlemeyer?"

"When Browne asserted his constitutional right to refuse to answer that question, on the ground that he might incriminate himself, Judge Ittner demanded that Browne answer the question.

"I do not think you are acting in good faith in refusing to answer that question," said the Judge.
"Interested in legislative matters, as you have been, I do not see how you could possibly incriminate yourself by telling whether or not you know a certain Alderman or group of Aldermen. You will have to answer the question."

"Yes, I know him," Browne then replied.

Head Grand Jury Transcript.
In response to the Circuit Attorney's questions, as read from the transcript of the grand jury's investigation, Browne said that he was manager of the road in 1921 and 1922 when House Bill 157, providing an extension of franchise for the Manufacturers' Railway, was pending before the Aldermanic Committee on Public Improvements, of which Alderman Uhlemeyer was and still is a member.

"Were you approached by anyone or any group of persons on or about March 27, 1922, and solicited for a bribe of $15,000 in relation to the passage of the bill?"
"I refuse to answer," said Browne, explaining that he was exercising his constitutional privilege.

"Are you afraid that the man or men referred to will take vengeance upon you if you answer?"
"No."

"Did you at any time give any money to anyone who had solicited you for a bribe?"

Asked About Uhlemeyer.
After Browne had refused to answer that question, the witness, mentioning the name of Alderman Uhlemeyer, was asked:

"Lawyers representing Browne made offed decisions by the State Supreme Court and the Federal court setting forth that the sole judge of whether or not a man is placed in a position where he can give testimony he might in-criminate himself.

"That's the law," said Judge Ittner, "and I cannot rule otherwise.
I cannot compel the witness to answer when he declares his answer might incriminate him."

"If that's the law," God deliver me from the law," interjected John Brenneman, one of the grand jurors, when he heard the Judge's reply.

Origin of the Inquiry.
Judge Ittner inquired as to how the case had come into his court.
J. J. Mantion, foreman of the grand jury, said:
"It seems that Alderman Sylvester Sample called on A. E. Wright, secretary of the railway company,
on business one day, and in the

FRENCH GOVERNMENT OFFERS PRIZE FOR AIR SPEED RECORD

Would Divide 200,000 Francs Be-

Maker of Motor.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 2.—The French Government has offered a prize of 200,000 francs to bring back to France the world's airplane record for speed, now held by Lieut. A. J.
Williams, U. S. N., with his mark of 266.59 miles an hour achieved on November 3, last, at Dayton, Ohio, and 60,000 to the manufacturer of the motor.

Several other prizes are offered 150,000 francs for the hydroaerplane speed record, 100,000 for a new distance flight, to which 50,000 will be added if the duration record is broken simultaneously and 25,000 for the altitude record.

The offer of the prizes was the first official act of Laurent Eynac on assuming his duties as high commissioner of aviation. Eynac was formerly under secretary of state for aviation, the head of a large staff at a high salary. The under secretary was eliminated by the new Poincare government for reasons of economy. Eynac is now not even a "dollar a year man," his present salary being nothing.

FRANKLIN COUNTY JURY DEADLOCKED IN THE HOGAN CASE

Belief About Courthouse at Union That Three or Four Jurors Are Holding Out for Acquittal.

ACCUSED OF ROBBING BANK MESSENGER

Seven Farmers and Five Townsmen on Jury Considering Case of Gangster Since Yesterday.

A probable failure to reach a verdict in the trial of "Jimmy" Hogan, St. Louis gangster and former convict, for robbery, was indicated this afternoon in the Franklin County Circuit Court at Union, when, more than 24 hours after the case went to the jury, the jurors were still out.

The general belief about the Courthouse at Union was that three, or not more than four, jurors were holding out for acquittal of Hogan, while the majority of the jury wishes to convict Hogan. In his first trial at Union two years ago, a jury considered the case only 40 minutes, and convicted Hogan with a 15-year sentence, which the Supreme Court reversed later.

Robbery Victim Shain.
Hogan is charged with the robbery of Elmer Pillow, negro bank messenger, in St. Louis April 4, 1921. Pillow was murdered five months later, after he had refused to back down in his identification of Hogan as one of the robbers.

The jury, composed of seven farmers and five townsmen, considered the case three hours yesterday afternoon before going to dinner, or supper, as it is called at Union. After the evening meal, the session was resumed until 12:30 a. m. today, when the jurors went to bed. Judge Brewer had retired at 11, and the good-sized gathering which waited in the courtroom had melted away in the hour after 9 o'clock curfew.

The jury went to its room at 9 o'clock this morning, and sounds of argument, and at times of laughter, were heard outside.

Public Interest Quickened.
The Union public, which was apathetic on the first day of the Hogan trial, was quickened by the case yesterday. Hogan's testimony in his own behalf Monday night, in which he volunteered the statement that he held a woman in front of him as a shield when police men were shooting at him, impressed the courtroom crowd most unfavorably.

An even worse impression was made by the dramatic testimony of surprise witness, Mrs. Herbert Wall, widow of a criminal, who was put forward in an endeavor to show that the deceased Wall was the Jefferson avenue and Wash street murderer, and carried the messenger in an automobile to the Compton avenue viaduct.

The witness' fearful identification of the coat, which was thrown over Pillow's head, as her husband's coat, and the sobs which interspersed her testimony, were received with expressions of disbelief and disgust by both men and women in the courtroom.

Story Might Be True.
However, it was pointed out that a large part of Mrs. Wall's story might be true, without affecting the State's case against Hogan. The State has never found out who the second man in the robbery was, or who drove the automobile in which the two carried Pillow away.

Mrs. Wall said that at the time of the robbery, she and Wall were living at 6321 Ridge avenue, and that her Buick automobile disappeared, and was found by her after the robbery, in the vicinity where Hogan was arrested, with one wheel broken. This implied that her husband took the car and used it in the robbery of Pillow, and this, it appeared, might be true, without affecting the case against Hogan.

The woman also testified that her husband went by the names of
"J. B. Stevens," "J. B. Hall" and
"J. B. Hogan." The last two aliases would fit the initials "J. B." which were in the pocket of the coat. However, there was another mark in the coat, the name
"J. B. Hogan." The defendant, to meet this part of the evidence, has taken pains to show that he was christened "James Henry Hogan."

Wall Killed by Train.
Wall, who was under charges of robbing freight cars, fell between two baggage cars of a Wabash train near Delmar station last November, and was crushed to death. In his possession, at the time, were articles which had just been stolen from a freight car.

K. K. K. ORGANIZER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Clayton Courtroom Crowded With Spectators, Who Peer at Defendant,
Beecher Coleman.

It had been quiet in the Saegesser living room that evening. Just as quiet as it was in Circuit Judge Wurdeman's court at Clayton today.

"We were sitting there," said Mrs. Catherine Saegesser on the witness stand today "My son, his wife, and I and the little girl. Albert was listening to a radio program at the table by the window."

Her voice was muffled in a black veil—a veil that almost concealed her white hair.

"I got up and walked over to Albert. 'What station is sending?'
I asked him. He said, 'I don't know. But as soon as I find out I'll have to stop and go to my lodge meeting.'"

The witness stopped with a catch of breath. Counsel for the State said: "Go on—what happened next?"

"There was a roar like thunder, Albert fell back in his chair. The top of his head was bloody. Little Catherine—the ran over to her father because she was afraid—I couldn't think for a minute and then I—I knew that Albert had been shot. I called to Wesley to bring a pillow—he was bleeding so terribly."

The trial of Beecher Coleman, former policeman and Ku Klux Klan organizer, for murder had begun. People crowded and jostled to catch a glimpse of the man sitting in a chair beside his counsel.

Murder Story Quickly Told.
Testimony followed quickly to bring out the story. How the mur-derer had stood outside the window with a shotgun. How he had fired two barrels. How he had surrendered to St. Louis police.

Wesley, 15-year-old son of the slain man, followed his grandmother on the stand.

"I was in another room when the noise came. Grandma called me to bring a pillow. I brought it to fast as I could. The man I took Catherine out of the way."

John Kluge, Webster Groves policeman, told next that he had been called by telephone and was informed there had been a shooting at 686 Oakwood avenue. So he went right out and found Mrs.
Catherine Saegesser holding a pillow above the head of her dead son. Coroner Brady spoke next of wounds and cause of death. Dr. C.
W. McGee gave it as his opinion that death had been instantaneous.

Only one witness who knew about the murder was absent. Mrs. Zaida Saegesser, Albert Saegesser's widow.
The State excused her, because she is to become a mother soon.

After the murder had been described down to the stains on the wall of the room, the broken window pane and the double-barreled shotgun, State's evidence veered to establishment of the crime in all compartments. This system, sucking
in lethal gas, would actually work
in favor of the enemy.

fense, a neutralizing chemical is employed at the entrance of the

SWINDLER GETS $17; TELLS CAFE MAN "APRIL FOOL"

"Dr. Smith" Orders Lunch,

The porter from Robinson's, Res-

the Humboldt Building at 5 p. m.
yesterday by a brisk, impressively attired man.

"A. my man. You've brought the sandwiches for Dr. Smith?
From Robinson's? Lucky I caught you. I was called out. I'll take the lunch up to the office. Did Robinson send the change for that $20 bill?"

All of which entirely convinced the porter that everything was well.
He handed the man $3 worth of chicken and lobster salad sandwiches. He handed the man $17 in change, as his employer had instructed him to do.

"You wait here," said "Dr.
Smith," accepting lunch and change. "And I'll run up to the office and get you that $20. I left it upstairs."

So the porter waited. But the man never appeared again.
After he had got back to the restaurant at 3561 Olive street, and had told Samuel Robinson how "Dr. Smith" had treated him the afternoon.

"Hello," said Robinson.
"Hello," said a voice which sounded like the voice which had ordered the chicken and lobster cateries by telephone earlier in the afternoon.

"What do you want?" queried Robinson.
"April Fool!" laughed the voice,
and the receiver clicked.
But Robinson, unable to see the joke, told police.

FEDERAL COURT DISSOLVES CEMENT STATISTICAL BUREAU

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, April 2.—Fed-issued a decree dissolving the Norcross Audit and Statistical bureau and enjoining six member cement companies from operating in altogether restraint of trade in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Okla-

The six companies, which had agreed to the decree, are permitted to retain a tariff and credit bureau, but are enjoined from maintaining uniform prices.

District Attorney Madison brought the suit under the Sherman anti-trust act, charging the controlling 95 per cent of the Portland cement industry. The defend-

SPECIAL BOARD U. S. S. MELVILLE, April 1.—The navy of the United States, almost simultaneously with those of England and Japan, has invented an almost perfect protection for men below decks against lethal gas.

Employment of lethal gas in naval warfare has long been dreaded because of the peculiarities of a ship's construction, which includes an ingenious system of pipes and tubes through which high-powered pumps force streams of air for distribution to the crews in all compartments. This system, sucking
in lethal gas, would actually work
in favor of the enemy.

By the new method of gas defense, a neutralizing chemical is employed at the entrance of the air funnels, filtering all air going

Walsh and Spencer Resume
Wrangling Over Testi-

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 2.—With George White, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in the witness chair, the oil committee renewed its wrangling today as to the relevancy of testimony relating to campaign contributions.

Sensor Spencer (Rep.) Missouri, asked White if he knew what contributions had been made to the Democratic fund in the 1920 campaign by E. L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

Announcing that he would not obey to the questioning of White on this line, Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor, said the testimony sought was "nevertheless wholly irrelevant. He deemed it important to show the large contribution by oil men to the Republican campaign fund, he said, because from it there might come a legiti-mate inference that Republican officials were influenced unduly in granting oil leases.

Sinclair Gave Nothing.
Spencer insisted, and White said Sinclair made no contribution to the Democratic fund. Doheny had given $8900 during the campaign, he said, and $25,000 afterwards to help wipe out a deficit.

When his attention was called to Doheny's testimony that his contribution had been $75,000, White said the California oil magnate was mistaken.

Walsh recalled that Doheny's memory for figures was faulty in the case of the payments made for legal services of William G. Mc-Adoo.

After a session lasting 15 minutes, the committee adjourned until Monday because of the absence of other witnesses.

BRYAN WANTS GOVERNMENT TO PAY CANDIDATES' EXPENSES

Declares Roosevelt Made Similar Proposal to Save Office Seekers from Big Expenses.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 2.—A plan to let the Government pay the campaign expenses of candidates for public office was brought forward here yesterday by William Jennings Bryan.

Recalling that President Roosevelt once suggested some such arrangement, Bryan said the Senate disclosures had prepared the public mind for acceptance of the practical details of the plan, and that he advocated quick action so it could be employed in the 1934 campaign.

The formal announcements of candidates would be placed before the people under the plan in a bulletin issued by the Government, and there would be additional appropriation from the Federal treasury amounting to ten cents per voter apportioned among parties according to the last recorded strength.

Thus, said Bryan, parties and candidates would "be saved from obligating themselves to the predatory interests."

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH SENATORS ON LEGISLATION

Means of Speeding Up Work Considered at White House Breakfast Conference.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 2.—Means of speeding up legislation in the Senate were considered at a White House breakfast conference today attended by about a dozen Republican Senators. President Coolidge went over with his guests the entire situation, and an endeavor was made to map out a program for the rest of the session similar to that agreed upon last week by the executive and Republican leaders of the House.

Senators attending the conference included Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader; Curtis of Kansas, the assistant Republican leader; Borah of Idaho; Moses of New Hampshire; Wade of New York; Brandegee of Connecticut; Willis of Ohio, and Watson of Indiana.

During the general discussion of the legislative situation some Senators expressed the opinion that Congress would be able to clean up its work before the Republican national convention at Cleveland, but others thought this view too optimistic.

Taxes, immigration and farm relief were the principal topics touched upon. The executive was told that the tax measure would be reported to the Senate next week, and in view of assurance given in the debate in the Senate yesterday, fairly prompt action was predicted.

The President was informed that there is a disposition to press the immigration restriction measure.
Some Senators favor bringing it up immediately, but Senator Hiram Johnson has requested that action be deferred until his return to Washington.

him with irregular practices and

Judge Faris announced that

Nature of Complaints

—Afterwards, the complainant cleared Deputy Marshal Kennedy solicited a fee of $5 for the bond, such as $10 for the prisoner, for their trouble to take to the station after hours. Payments are said to have been made in some cases. Information that this practice was obtained from several sources. The Commissioner is legally entitled a 75-cent fee from the Government for each bond signed.

SMITH LEADS M'ADOO IN WISCONSIN VOTE

New York Governor and La Follette Favored in Democratic and G. O. P. Contests.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—At Smith, Governor of New York, was leading William G. McAdoo, and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, had slightly less than a two to one lead over President Coolidge for delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions respectively, unofficial returns from yesterday's primary showed at noon today.

The figures of 249 precincts of 1924 in the State in the Republican contest were: La Follette, 57,108; Coolidge, 31,508; and for 487 precincts in the Democratic contest were Smith, 14,199; McAdoo, 9,765.

President Coolidge appears almost certain to have two delegates supporting him from the First district, where those pledged to him are leading the La Follette delegates by more than 1000 votes with 12 precincts to report. The First district is in the extreme Southwestern part of the State.

The only other district where La Follette delegates may be beaten is in the Sixth.

On the Democratic side both Smith and McAdoo factions filed a complete slate in each district, while in the presidential preference primary, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri was McAdoo's only opponent. Little interest was shown in the race, and 134 precincts gave McAdoo, 2032, to Reed's 925.

West organizations in both Milwaukee and in numerous out-State counties during the last few days worked for Smith's delegates.

In Milwaukee's city election, Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Socialism was leading David Rose, nonpartisan, in the race for Mayor by 7290, incomplete returns show.

Complete returns from Racine and Kenosha counties and the first definite returns from Milwaukee County gave Coolidge delegates a slight advantage over the position he held last night. With 460 precincts out of 2574 in the State reported, La Follette had 48,504 votes and Coolidge 26,592.

The presidential preference vote cast for candidates is merely an expression of choice and not a selection race, for who may be selected.

Ford to Broadcast Johnson Speech.
By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, April 2.—The address of Senator Hiram Johnson, candidate for the Republican nomination, will be broadcast by the Ford Motor Co. radio station WVI between 8 and 8:45 o'clock. Ford recently issued a statement in support of Coolidge, and it was explained the granting of the permit was a matter of "public service" and the same courtesy would be accorded other candidates.

Irish Women Oppose Jury Service.
DUBLIN, April 2.—Irish women have the same right as men to sit on juries for the most part they do not like it, and there is a bill before the House of Commons proposing to strike off the jury lists the names of all women objecting to such service.

Kevin O'Higgins said that the woman juror was not an outstanding success and this provoked the retort from the Labor benches: "The woman voter a success?" O'Higgins replied that he would not like to answer the question "in public."

Sketch of Ku Klux Klan Member Who Is on Trial for Murder

MOTHER TELLS OF KILLING OF MAN AT RADIO IN HOME

when Beecher Coleman walked in that evening.

"Beecher pulled the barrel and stock of a gun from his trouser legs," related the witness. "I said, 'What have you been doing, Beecher?'"

"I just got me a man out in Webster Groves," Coleman had replied, according to the desk sergeant's testimony.

"He had taken a card from his pocket and shown it to Meyer. The card was read to the jury.

"His message was this: 'I have killed Mr. Saegesser at his home. Am on my way to Central Headquarters, 208 South Twelfth street.'"

Reference to Loss of Job.
Meyer gave the card to Police Captain Leopke, who testified his confession, and the hardware man who had sold him the shotgun and shells was on the stand.

Defense counsel kept breaking in with "Was that a rational act?" or "Did he seem excited?" or "Do you think a sane man would have said that?"

Indicating that the defense was laying its case on the confessed slayer's last resort—a plea of insanity.

Justice of the Magistrate, Reilly Co., of which Saegesser was a member, said he had paid Beecher Coleman off that afternoon along with six other men and had told him that he would not be arrested for some time.

Perhaps Coleman thought that Saegesser had "got his job."

Defense to Plead Insanity.
The defense will endeavor to prove that Coleman thought nothing—that is no sane thought—in his opening statement, Attorney Schuster told the jury that Coleman was insane when he killed Saegesser.

The defendant in this case was discharged from the army in 1917 suffering from dementia praecox," he contended.

First testimony for the defendant began in the afternoon with the deposition of his mother, Mrs. Kate Coleman of Little Rock, Ark. It related how Coleman had made slow progress in school when a youth and described quarrels he had had with his father.

One time the elder Coleman struck Beecher on the head with a stick, his mother deposed.

Feeling in the case was so intense that Coleman was kept in the St. Louis jail as a precaution.

Judge Wurdeman, on pressure of defense counsel, was obliged to exclude residents of Webster Groves from consideration as jurors.

The State then introduced Coleman committed cold-blooded murder and indicated that it will ask for the death penalty.

Six Injured in Train Wreck.
By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, O., April 2.—Mrs. Mike Kroko, 55 years old of Stamford, Pa., suffered concussion of the brain with injuries about the abdomen; five others were less seriously injured and a score shaken up yesterday when the baggage car and two coaches of a Pennsylvania Railroad train left the rails four miles south of here. The coaches overturned. Mrs. Kroko, with her husband and little son, were enroute to Cambridge, O., to attend the funeral of a relative. A broken brake beam is believed to have caused the wreck.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE NEW TRAFFIC LAW TOMORROW

Rule Against Parking on Olive Between Twelfth and Fourth Expected to Cause Friction.

Immediate enforcement of the new traffic ordinance will be undertaken by the police tomorrow, when the ordinance goes into effect.

The provision which is expected to make the greatest change from present conditions, and to cause the greatest friction, for the first few days, between the police and drivers, is the rule against parking passenger automobiles on Olive street, between Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard, and on the Olive line loop route on Fourth street, Locust street and Broadway.

This is not the first time the law, but it is a rule laid down by the new Traffic Council, under authority of the ordinance, and such has the force of a legal enactment for 30 days, during which time a legal provision may be enacted; if this is not done, the rule lapses.

The Olive Street Rule.
The Olive street rule permits only commercial vehicles to be parked on the 11 city blocks affected, and these for not more than 15 minutes.

Taxicab company representatives met with the members of the new Traffic Council today and were informed of complaints which have been made that taxicabs interfere with private vehicles at Union Station.

He had taken a card from his pocket and shown it to Meyer. The card was read to the jury.

Five Employees of Black and White Concern Lined Up in Office at 3954 Olive Street by Masked Robbers

Under the new agreement the 400 men in the union receive $1.37 1/2 an hour. Until yesterday they were paid $1.25 an hour, and demanded $1.50 hourly under the new agreement.

The pair strode into the taxicab office with revolvers drawn, and while the man ordered Cashier Elmer Aubuchon of 4032 Westminster place, and two girl clerks, to stand against a wall, his companion went to a back room and marched two chauffeurs to the end of the hall. Then he turned to the desk, where in a Aubuchon's desk, where in a drawer he found the envelopes, containing a week's payroll, which he thrust into his pocket as the pair ran out.

A chauffeur, approaching the office, saw the robbers run out and board the machine, which moved rapidly west on Olive street. It was completely certain and the license was obscured by dirt.

Man Seizes Robber's Revolver But Is Shot in Fight With Him.
Peter Gruber, 3735 Laclede avenue, stood meekly with his back to the wall in front of his home last night while a highwayman took $1.50 from him.

Then he saw an opportunity and snatched the revolver from the robber's hand and began beating on the robber's head with the butt of it. The pair waded back and forth across the sidewalk and the robber touched the trigger of the weapon. A bullet grazed Gruber's forehead and he staggered back against the wall.

The robber darted to an automobile parked at No. 3501 and drove rapidly west while Patrolman Frank Dolan and a private watchman, attracted by his shot, fired four times at the speeding car.

"Fare" Steals Service Car.
"Get to Barnes Hospital quick—my mother is dying," a man shouted as he stepped into the service car of Lewis J. Deschamps at 2855A Lemay avenue, at Delmar loop yesterday. He hurriedly released the driver's seat. "Better cut through the park, it's quicker," he pleaded.

Deschamps stepped on the gas. Next he saw a light and hit the fare with the butt of his revolver pressed against his back. He stopped and the passenger slid into the front seat. "Now you get out of the car," he ordered and Deschamps obeyed.

The fare drove off in Deschamps' automobile, a Marmon, while his victim walked to a telephone to call the police.

Other Robberies.
Miss Blanche Sorinette of 4585A McKinley avenue, a nurse at Bethesda Home, 3645 Vista avenue, was halted by a negro who seized her arm as she approached the hospital last night. Without a word, he wrested a purse containing $14 from her hand and fled.

Burglars last night took $8 in jewelry and a diamond ring and jewelry valued at $100 from the home of Peter Keiffer, 3257 California avenue, and jewelry valued at $100 from the home of John LaBreck, 4065 Flad avenue.

GRIEF OVER DEATH OF PRINCE CAUSES SUICIDE OF WOMAN
Spinster Who Was Made Ward of Austrian Drowns Her Dog, Parrots and Herself.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 2.—It mattered nothing to Grace Wakefield, 51 years old, a spinster, whether the man who died of heart disease in a Bronx hospital yesterday was the Prince of Austria, or the Prince of Philosophy, or the Prince Johann Salvator, long and mysteriously missing Archduke of Austria.

It only mattered that he was gone from her life and she joined him in death yesterday, drowning herself in a bathtub after she had slashed her wrist to prevent any possible miscarriage of her plan.

With her went a dog, held until death under the same water, and her two bright parrots, drowned in a nearby hand basin. Grace Wakefield was the ward of the deceased, whose death was recorded as that of the Archduke Johann Salvator, who disappeared from the Vienna court in 1859 and officially was declared by the Austrian Government to have died in 1890. He made her his ward on his arrival in America 26 years ago, finding her an orphan and friendless.

Uhlenmeyer Before U. S. Grand Jury in Beer Investigation.

Alderman Uhlenmeyer was before the Federal grand jury for a statement, in its first session, on the board and also is a member of the Municipal Police Commission. An indictment charging him with violating the Federal prohibition law was dismissed March 21, 1923, with leave to restate by the Government. A large number of barrels filled with what was apparently beer of illegal alcoholic content was found in a raid on the garage of a grayhound company, of which Uhlenmeyer is secretary. The case was dismissed because no search warrant had been used in the raid.

TEXAS-MEXICO BORDER IS ORDERED CLOSED AT 9 P. M.
Washington Trying to Shut Out Narcotic and Alien Traffic During Darkness.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 2.—The Treasury today issued orders for the closing of the international border at Laredo, Tex., to all traffic between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily. The order becomes effective within a week.

Officials indicated that traffic in narcotics and other contraband and aliens during the hours of darkness was responsible for the order. The customs gates at other border points previously had been ordered closed during the night.

SHEET METAL WORKERS ACCEPT 12 1/2-CENT INCREASE

Union Members Had Demanded Wage Boost of 25 Cents an Hour.

The Sheet Metal Workers Union whose contract with employers expired yesterday, accepted half of the 25-cent hourly wage increase they demanded, according to announcement today by the Associated Building Interests of St. Louis.

Under the new agreement the 400 men in the union receive $1.37 1/2 an hour. Until yesterday they were paid $1.25 an hour, and demanded $1.50 hourly under the new agreement.

The acceptance of terms by the Sheet Metal Workers leaves only the Painters and Asbestos Workers at variance with employers. The contract of the Composition Roofers expires April 25, but it is hoped a satisfactory agreement will be reached before that date.

UHLEMEYER'S NAME MENTIONED IN BRIBE QUIZ

course of their conversation Wright asked Nangle how the franchise bid was coming along. Wright told Nangle that Browne had informed him that an Alderman had said he could get the bill through for $15,000.

"Alderman Nangle reported the conversation to the Board of Aldermen and an investigation was started by the board, but Browne refused to name the Alderman who had approached him. Later the grand jury took up the investigation and Browne also refused to tell the grand jury who had solicited the bribe."

Comment of Judge.
"Well, if that's the case," Judge Ittner commented, "Browne started the whole thing by his talk. He has done a great injustice by casting a shadow over the entire Board of Aldermen, many members of which are men of integrity and honor. Browne is not acting the part of a man in starting the thing and then refusing to give the details."

The Court then dismissed the contempt proceedings and Browne's bond was terminated. The Circuit Attorney announced that in view of the court's action the investigation would be abandoned pending further information.

When the grand jury investigation was started last September Browne did not stand on his constitutional rights in refusing to name the alleged bribe solicitor. He merely said he had personal reasons for refusing to do so. He was sent to jail by Judge Calhoun for contempt of court in refusing to answer the questions of the grand jury.

Later the Supreme Court denied the writ, but when the case came up again in the Circuit Court, Judge Calhoun had been transferred from the Criminal to the Civil division and the case dragged along through two terms of court until it finally was taken up by the February grand jury.

Browne Called Into Court.
Browne was summoned before the February grand jury last Friday morning and again questioned and tempted bribery. He again refused to name the alleged bribe solicitor, and this time stood upon his constitutional rights. When the February grand jury made its final report yesterday, Browne was in Judge Ittner's court in response to a summons from the inquisitorial body, which desired to have the court determine whether Browne was in contempt of court in refusing to answer the questions.

HALLIDAY IN HOSPITAL AS MENTAL PATIENT

Convicted Broker, Now in Chicago, Ordered Committed to City Sanitarium.

George V. Halliday, convicted broker, under a $25,000 appeal bond, is in the Chicago State Hospital, undergoing treatment for the mental affliction, and has been committed by the St. Louis County Court to the St. Louis City Sanitarium.

The bond of Halliday, who is under a five-year sentence for forgery of interim certificates for French Government bonds and an additional two years for taking money without delivering stock he had agreed to purchase for clients, was withdrawn March 15 by his bondsman, David Rankin, of 2918 Geyer avenue.

Halliday was arrested in Chicago a few days before his bond was withdrawn, on a charge of fraudulently securing a taxicab driver of 140. It was while the police were investigating the charge that he was sent to the State Hospital.

The St. Louis County Court took action in Halliday's case because he is a resident of Webster Groves, having given 24 South Rock Hill road as his last address. Edward Tiffin, State Deportation Agent at Chicago, in a letter sent to the clerk of the St. Louis County Court several days ago, called attention to the fact that Halliday was a resident of Webster Groves and asked the court to have him transferred to St. Louis County.

There being no county institution in St. Louis County, to which Halliday might be committed, the court ordered him sent to the city sanitarium here to be treated as a ward of St. Louis County, and at the expense of the county.

PRIVATE HOSPITAL BEING CONDUCTED ON LINDELL BL.
Recent Efforts of Undertakers to Invade Residence Section Call Attention to Institution.

Since the recent attempts of two undertakers to move their establishments to the 4300 and 4500 blocks on Lindell boulevard, autoists and pedestrians have noticed that another business is being conducted on that part of Lindell which the residents wish to keep free for private dwellings. It is the Williams Hospital at 4206 Lindell.

Dr. Lee Roy Williams, when asked how long he had had his hospital there, said it was opened at that very spot in February, 1923, and that the large black and gold sign over the door had been there since a month after the hospital opened.

The Williams Hospital has 20 beds, including one small ward of four beds, an operating room, a clinic, and a clinical staff of 16. The former residence is leased by Dr. Williams. He will soon have to move to larger quarters, he believes.

Uhlenmeyer and Carl Schneider, who has testified previously, are believed to have been questioned about an alleged automobile ride to Washington, Mo., to undertake a railroad train on which a State official was going to Jefferson City, in order to get in touch with the official motorist as to the sale of a consignment of beer at a desired time.

Prohibition enforcement agents, subordinates of Gus O. Nations, chief of the Missouri field enforcement group, were also questioned today. They have appeared previously.

DOWNTOWN GARAGE USES SIDEWALK TO PARK CARS

Place at Twelfth Boulevard and Locust Street, Run by "Boots" Brennan.

The automobile storage business downtown is so good that the Jefferson garage, Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, run by "Boots" Brennan, Democratic politician and one-time member of the old House of Delegates, has annexed the sidewalk to accommodate all cars offered for storage.

That use of the sidewalk for this purpose violates city ordinance appears to make no difference. Neither does the fact that employees of the garage were arrested two months ago charged with obstructing the sidewalk and then released on promise not to do it again. Cars were parked on the sidewalk last Monday, as they had been in the past.

Director of Streets and Sewers Pisk said yesterday he had instructed employees of the street department to observe parking conditions at the garage. Additional arrests would be made, he added, if the sidewalk was used as an addition to the garage.

Kansas City, Commission Named. By the Associated Press. JEFFERSON CITY, April 2.—Governor Hyde late yesterday appointed R. P. Rice of Kansas City as a member of the Board of Police Commissioners of Kansas City to fill out the unexpired term of Inghram D. Hook, who recently resigned as a member of the board. Rice's term will expire March 3, 1925.

$100,000 TAKEN, TWO MEN SLAIN, IN MONEY CAR HOLDUP

Robbers Kill Driver in Montreal Subway, Wound Another, Seize Money Bags and Flee.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MONTREAL, Quebec, April 2.—Two men lie in the morgue today as a result of the daring daylight holdup of the bank of Hochelaga's collecting cars yesterday afternoon, when seven men, armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, opened fire on the money car in the center of a darkened subway and got away with $100,000, but left behind in the car $140,000. The bank car contained four men, including the chauffeur, Henry Cleroux, 24 years old, and all were armed with revolvers.

They had been collecting deposits from branches in the eastern part of the city and when approaching the tunnel had to slow up as there was a Ford sedan seemingly stalled in the middle of it. It was one of the robber cars, however, for on approaching it a hail of bullets came at the bank car without any warning. The robbers had men stationed at each end of the tunnel, they cut the trolley wire when signaled that the bank car was coming, so as to keep the narrow tunnel clear of obstruction for their getaway, and they had a Hudson touring car waiting at the western end of the subway. Immediately after they opened fire the armed guards and bank messengers in the attacked car pulled their guns and fired back.

Motor Cycle Police Give Chase. Cleroux stalled his engine, jumped out to seek help, but was shot through the neck, the bullet shattering the vertebrae, and he fell dead. The robbers closed in on the car and grabbed the biggest pouch, then went to the Hudson and drove furiously away. Motor cycle police, attracted by the firing, chased them and a running fight was kept up for a while, but the car got away, an unlucky shot hitting the motor cycle out of commission. They continued firing at the car, however, until it was lost to sight. Within a quarter of an hour the car had been located in the north end of the city and it was found that the robbers had obtained a second Ford car for the two stopped on Everett street, the men piled out of the Hudson and into the Ford and escaped. But they left behind one man, and curious people seeing him spraying on the back seat called the police. They found him to be one of the robbers, shot through the right lung, dead. On the floor of the car were found two rifles, a shotgun and several boxes of ammunition as well as the wrappings of packages flung by the banks to fasten up money. The robbers had abandoned their dead companion and gone further north, for later in the night there was a report from five miles out of four men being seen near the Back river and police, going there, discovered an overcoat and two revolvers, every chamber of which had been discharged, lying on the ice of the river.

Four Suspects Arrested. Search parties were sent out in every direction and four suspects were arrested at a boarding house in the city and are held for inquiries, but as all the men were masked and the subway was dark, it is doubtful if they will be identified.

The dead robber was identified

CALL WITH REPLEVIN WRIT REVEALS BURGLARY OF HOUSE

Representatives of Furniture Concern Find Place Ransacked and Owner Reports Jewelry Stolen.

Representatives of a furniture house with a replevin writ, went to the home of Theodore Bierman at 3745 Marine avenue to get some furniture yesterday. The door was wide open but no one answered the bell. A glance inside disclosed complete disorder.

The furniture hunters sought a telephone and got the police. "This place has been ransacked," the spokesman explained, "and we want it understood that we didn't do it."

Investigation disclosed that two men had moved down the street ringing doorbells and inquiring for "Mr. Jones." It is presumed they entered Bierman's house when no one answered their ring at the door. Bierman, when he returned, home, reported jewelry worth $200 was gone.

POLICE BOARD OF TWO FAVORED BY HY

Governor, in St. Louis, Belle Body Would Be Less Cumbersome.

Gov. Hyde, in St. Louis to confer with police officials, the recent request for record of the department covering a period of six years, said he believed the reduction of the membership of the Police Board from four to two members, with the Mayor as ex-officio member, would be an improvement over the present body.

He made the statement in discussing the recommendation of the grand jury yesterday that the Police Department be placed in charge of one commissioner, that the board be abolished. "I do not believe in a one-man board," the Governor said. "I do believe that a board of two members, with the Mayor as ex-officio member, would make the commission unwieldy. I am not criticizing the present board. It has done work well. But a smaller board while escaping the pros and cons of one-man domination, would be more manly and act quickly. The Governor expressed sympathy with the grand jury's sentiment that St. Louis was in need of 700 more policemen, instead of 100 more."

GOVERNOR BOARD OF TWO FAVORED BY HYDE

Governor, in St. Louis, Believes Body Would Be Less Cumbersome.

Gov. Hyde, in St. Louis today in conference with police officials on the most recent request for records of the department covering a period of 20 years, said he believed a board of the membership of the police board from four to two members, with the Mayor as ex-officio member, would be an improvement over the present system.

He made the statement in discussing the recommendation of the grand jury yesterday that the Police Department be placed in charge of one commissioner and that the board be abolished.
"I do not believe in a one-man board," the Governor said. "However, I do believe that a board of two members, with the Mayor as a third and ex-officio member, would make the commission less cumbersome and act quickly.

The Governor expressed sympathy with the grand jury's statement that St. Louis was in need of 700 more policemen, remarking that an addition to the police force would make the present problem of adequately policing the city less difficult.

The matters of police pensions and salary increases were for the people of St. Louis to handle, Gov.
Hyde said.

He said that his request for statistics of arrests, issues of warrants and convictions resulted from his desire to compare the three years of his administration with the three prior years.

He said also that figures might point the way to improvements in certain conditions. The statistics would have to be studied before he could make any statement regarding their usefulness, he added.

$12,125 in cash prizes ranging from $25 to $1,500 ~ 119 PRIZES IN ALL

The makers of Lux announce a great far-reaching contest
Everyone has a chance to win . . .

CONTEST

$250 for the most helpful way to use Lux for a practical new purpose . . . second prize $75; third prize $25 . . .

By "new" we mean anything for which we have not already given washing directions.

This would bar out directions for washing garments made of silk, wool, fine cotton or linen; it would also bar out directions for washing blankets;
for washing automobiles.

But if you use Lux for any practical new purpose such as shampoo, washing rugs, cleaning tarnished silver or any of the scores of new purposes, just tell us in your own words how you use it.

Make the directions as helpful as you possibly can—just as if you were telling a neighbor just how to get the best results.

For the most helpful directions for using Lux for the first prize of $250; for the next most helpful directions goes the second prize of $75; for the third most helpful, $25.

CONTEST

$1500 for the best letter on "Why I Value Lux" . . . second prize $500, third prize $250, 12 prizes of $100 each . . .

Countless women value Lux for laundering fine things. There are hosts of other reasons why both men and women value Lux.

Mr. Smith, for instance, washed the outside of his house with it. He values Lux because it saved him a big painter's bill.

Mrs. Davidson always washes her dishes with Lux because it keeps her hands from looking rough and red. She values Lux for many things, but the effect on her hands is the most important.

Other fastidious women value it because it is so wonderful for the family laundry. The rich Lux lather is so easy on their hands.

Just tell us why you value Lux. $1,500 for the best letter—$500 for the second best, $250 for the third best, $100 for each of the 12 next best letters.

CONTEST

State Prizes (including the District of Columbia) amounting to $6125. For the most interesting and complete list of purposes for which you use Lux . . . numbered in the order of their importance to you. 49 first prizes of $75 each (one for each of the 48 states and the District of Columbia), 49 second prizes of $50 each

Innumerable women use Lux for laundering all kinds of fine fabrics. They use it, too, in ever increasing numbers for washing dishes and for shampoo.

We have many interesting letters from women who have found that Lux is incomparable for washing milk bottles, for cleaning tarnished silver, etc.

Men have many important uses for it that they take time to write us about.

You probably use Lux for quantities of interesting things. Tell us about them, in the order of their importance to you.

To the one in each state and the District of Columbia who sends the most interesting and complete list goes the first prize of $75—for the next most interesting and complete list goes the second prize of $50.

CONTEST

Special Prize of $1500. For the most interesting account of an incident in the life of a well-known person in which Lux has figured; second prize $500; third prize $200.

These letters illustrate what we mean: Edward Bok wrote, "When I put up my limousine for the summer the upholstery was full of dust and spots. I didn't believe anything could bring it back to its freshness, but Lux did.

I congratulate you on having a product that brings about such results."

From Miss Harrison, "In draping the flags for a fête of nations at which Joseph Choate was guest of honor, one flag became soiled. It was washed with Lux and came out beautifully;

the colors bright—the white unstreaked."

Miss Browne wrote, "At a luncheon for Willie Cather I wanted everything to be Czechoslovakian in honor of her heroine, Antonia. That very morning what was my dismay to find my lovely Bohemian luncheon set had yellowed! It was washed wonderfully with Lux. The rich embroidery lost none of its brilliance—the cloth was gleaming white."

For the most interesting letter telling of an incident in the life of a well-known person in which Lux has figured, we give the special prize of $1500; second prize, $500; third prize, $200.

RULES

1. This contest is open to everyone in the United States.
2. Send contributions to Lever Bros.

3. The fact that you may have sent us washing directions, told us why has figured, does not bar you from competing. Write us again.

4. You may compete in one or more of the contests. Use separate sheet

"TIME HAS COME," SAYS NATIONALIST
CHIEF OF GERMANY

Speech at Hamburg Interpreted as Sign Reactionaries Plan to Take Over Government.

THREE PARTIES
DEFEND REPUBLIC

Grandson of Bismarck Is Candidate for Reichstag and Pledges Youth to Monarchy.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, April 2.—The 109th anniversary of the birth of Bismarck and the acquittal of former Field Marshal Ludendorff before the special tribunal at Munich afford the Nationalist organs and the reactionary leaders text for familiar diatribes against the Young German Republic.
In certain political circles the opinion is expressed that there are plenty of other symptoms accumulating, and with sufficient intensity to warrant the prediction that the principles of democracy shortly will find themselves locked in a life-and-death struggle with the prewar reaction.

The very nature of the new tickets were announcing the vindication of Ludendorff yesterday hundreds of admirers of Bismarck made their annual pilgrimage to his monument before the Reichstag building, where scores of wreaths, beribboned with the old monarchical colors, were laid down, many of them bearing expressions of anti-Republican sentiment.
Almost at the same hour the delegates to the convention of the German nationalist party at Hamburg, rose to cheer the announcement of Ludendorff's acquittal. Dr. Hergt, chairman of the convention and the Nationalist leader in the Reichstag, sounded the slogan "The time has come." This was interpreted in certain quarters as indicating that the reactionaries were prepared to take over the Government in anticipation of a decisive success in the forthcoming elections.

Another sign of the recrudescence of the monarchical sentiment, in the opinion of political observers, is contributed by the German People's party, popularly known as the "Stinnes-Stresemann party," which, under the leadership of Foreign Minister Stresemann, is making a bid for votes on a platform which calls for the restoration of the old monarchical colors.

The fact that the industrialists' party has moved into the monarchical camp is considered the most significant development in the current political re-alignment.
It leaves the Clericals, Democrats and Socialists the only defenders of the Democracy within the Republic.

Bismarck's Grandson a Candidate.
Prince Otto von Bismarck, grandson of the former Chancellor, will be a German Nationalist deputy in the new Reichstag. The Prince, who is 27, has been living in retirement on the family estate at Friedrichsruhe, near Hamburg. He made his political debut at the German Nationalist convention yesterday, where reactionary spokesmen introduced him as the "headliner" who is to lead the patriotic German youth into the monarchists' camp in the election of May 4.

"Prince von Bismarck has the floor," shouted Chairman Hergt as he conducted the youth to the edge of the speakers' platform. The Prince bowed bashful acknowledgment while the delegates shouted a tumultuous greeting.
"My heart is flowing over and I scarcely know how to thank you," he said. Continuing, he pledged the "Bismarck youth league" to the "national monarchy" and to

STOMACH DISORDERED?
Take Haley's Magnesia-Oil milk of magnesia and mineral oil combined.
There is a cause for disordered stomach. And that cause will most often be found in the lower bowel, the seat of most so-called "stomach trouble." Acids from fermenting, accumulating waste matter must be neutralized and waste matter eliminated. Two things are necessary—both are done at one time with Haley's Magnesia-Oil (milk of magnesia combined with mineral oil). Both oil and magnesia work together as they should. The oil carries the magnesia straight to the lower bowel where it is needed. Acids are neutralized, clogged tracts are lubricated. Action is prompt but devoid of griping or distress. Get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil today. There is no oily taste. If your druggist can't supply you write us. We'll mail postpaid on receipt of price. Trial size, 35c; family size, $1. STATE LIKEY TO HOLD UP HOLLAND BANK DIVIDEND

Proposed Distribution of 40 Per Cent to Depositors Fails to Include Missouri's Funds.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 2.—
The proposed distribution of 40 per cent dividends to depositors of the Holland Banking Co. at Springfield, which was closed Jan. 15, last, probably will be held up because the plan does not provide for inclusion of the State or its deposits in the bank, which total $610,000.
After it had been decided that reorganization of the bank would be virtually impossible because $2,000,000 of its $6,200,000 assets were "frozen," as published exclusively by the Post-Dispatch recently, it was proposed to make an immediate distribution of 40 per cent to depositors and to depend upon liquidation for the remainder of the claims.

Attorney-General Barrett, after a conference with a State bank examiner at Springfield, learned that the intention was for the State not to share in the 40 per cent dividend, but to be dependent upon the securities put up by the bank when it received the State deposits and upon further liquidation should the sale of these securities not meet the full claim. When the bank closed, the State had $1,035,000 on deposit, but this has been cut down to $610,000 by the sale of some of the securities held by the State.

ONE-YEAR ENLISTMENTS AGAIN

Army Resumes Policy Discontinued

The local United States Army Recruiting Office has received instructions to enlist men for a period of one year, as well as three years. One year enlistments were discontinued in January, 1922.
Re-enlistments are to be for three-year periods. Men between the ages of 21 and 25 are eligible, as are those between 18 and 21, who can obtain parental consent.

the old colors, which he asserted must again be raised to awaken the national consciousness of the German people. He hoped the German young people of today would respond to the political to-cain with the same enthusiasm as those of 1914 did to the call to arms.

Plans to Mobilize Voters.
"Youth is sometimes impetuous," he observed, "but that is the privilege of youth." He promised the old party warhorses on the platform that the army of young voters which he proposed to mobilize, would always subordinate itself to the party's discipline. As for his part, he would be a model Reichstag deputy in the event of his election.

As young Bismarck is certain of election there will be at least one Prince in the new Reichstag, and there is every prospect of others, as the reactionary campaign managers are combing the country for blubbled candidates.
Gen. Ludendorff will be nomi-

"Acquittal a Dishonor To Uniform," Says Gen. Ludendorff

BY SAMUEL SPIEWACK.

Dispatch and the New York World.

COURTSHIP, 1924. By the Post and World Publishing Co., the New York World and the New York Times.
MUNICH! April 2.—From all parts of the republican Reich—for it is still a republic though its Foreign Minister had disowned it, the telegraph wires are laden with congratulations for the vindication of Gen. Ludendorff, who says frankly he is working for the return of the Hohenzollerns.

Adolf Hitler and his fellow hail putcher are practically free, for although they were sentenced yesterday to five years they will not go to prison unless within six months they are again found guilty of high treason.

"Heck Ludendorff!" drowned
the music of the Munich cafes last night. Demonstrations began the moment the verdict in the Luden-dorff treason trial was announced.
In his field gray uniform, his breast dazzling with imperial de-
house to be engulfed by his waiting admirers, who recklessly disregarded the charges of cavalry.
The street rocked with the onrush-ing hero worshippers and the harassed soldiers.

Ludendorff had insisted on facing the crowd when the State prosecutor urged him to leave by the back way. He drew himself up, his broad face purple with wrath and said: "I shall leave as I please. You might as well arrest me, but I shall go as I please."
Shortly before, when the counsel for the putches had asked that the verdict be set aside, Ludendorff volunteered: "I consider my acquittal a dishonor to my uniform and to the decorations I wear."

He wanted to be a martyr. But his wrath was appeased at the demonstrations. By pre-arrangement, it was agreed that his car was to fly the black, white and red if he were acquitted, and as the crowds observed the emblem of imperial Germany they showered him with flowers. Aristocratic old ladies blew him kisses and portly Nationalists drew up in salute.
From most of the windows flew the black, white and red flag of Wilhelm II, Foreign Minister Stresemann's big business and Luden-dorff.

Don't Squeeze Black-

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomel powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural

BRITISH TREATIES
TO BE SUBMITTED TO PARLIAMENT

Under Secretary Announces Policy That Will Make Secret Pacts Impossible.

CHANGE OPPOSED
BY CONSERVATIVES

Liberal Speaker Says That Plan Means Americanization of British Constitution.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 2.—An interesting episode bearing on the Labor Government's treatment of treaty questions arose in the House of Commons when Arthur Ponsonby, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, moving the second reading of the bill to ratify the treaty of Lausanne, pointed out that the present Government was in no way responsible for the treaty, which was concluded by the late Government, but was anxious that all formalities should be accomplished, permitting resumption of normal relations with Turkey.

Ponsonby then announced that in order to strengthen the control of Parliament over treaties the Government had decided that in future Parliament would be asked an adequate opportunity for discussion of all treaties before their final ratification. He said that hitherto there had been no constitutional obligation on the Government to submit treaties before ratification.

This announcement yesterday provoked protests from a number of the opposition members, that such a change would be a constitutional change, and in the event of final ratification, He said that hitherto there had been no constitutional obligation on the Government to submit treaties before ratification.

The announcement yesterday provoked protests from a number of the opposition members, that such a change would be a constitutional change, and in the event of final ratification, He said that hitherto there had been no constitutional obligation on the Government to submit treaties before ratification.

H. A. L. Fisher, Liberal, said that the Under Secretary, instead of explaining the Lausanne treaty, had raced away from it and had delivered a plan for the Americanization of the British Constitution. Conservative speakers intimated that they would ask for a special debate on the subject.

Secret Treaties Impossible.

Ponsonby's proposal was that a Government would lay on the table in both Houses of Parliament, every treaty when signed for a period of 21 days, after which the treaty would be ratified and published, and in the event of important treaties, an opportunity for discussion would be given within this period. Thus secret treaties would be made impossible.

Further, while in office, the present Government would submit to the House all agreements, commitments and understandings that might in any way bind the nation to specific action.

The debate brought much criticism of the Lausanne instrument, which many members described as a bad treaty, the point especially objected to being the guarantee under the treaty of demilitarized zones on both sides of the straits.

Sir Edward Grigg, Liberal, moved an amendment declining to proceed with the bill unless assured that the Dominions and India were fully informed and that they acquiesced in the liability the Empire assumed under this guarantee. He said that the guarantee of a status quo for the straits and Constantinople was one of the most dangerous obligations Great Britain could undertake, and he wanted to know if the Dominions and India were fully cognizant of it.

Macdonald Supports Treaty.

Sir Edward maintained that the United States, under the favorable nation clause, had obtained all the advantages which Great Britain had obtained in the straits without incurring obligations of any kind. Premier Macdonald was giving a guarantee to Turkey which, he had refused to France.

The Prime Minister, in replying to the criticisms, admitted that the treaty was unsatisfactory, but contended that Lord Curzon had done the best possible under difficult circumstances and that it would have been absurd for Great Britain to refuse ratification at the risk of having another conference on continuance of state of war. The other powers have done so, and the delay was pressing to know what its status would be in Europe and refusing point blank the provisions of the treaty until ratified.

Macdonald said that he had been warning and cajoling Turkey to accept its representative on the commission to settle the boundaries of Iraq. Turkey's reply was "not until you have ratified the treaty," but in the meantime all sorts of agitations were being along the Iraq front.

Dr. Bridges, Post-Laureate.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN your editorial of yesterday (March 31) on "The Post-Laureate Arrives," referring particularly, especially, and finally, to "Doctor" Bridges, who was formerly a very good hospital physician, and since then has been a very poor poet.

The office of Post-Laureate should have been abolished at the death of Tennyson in 1892. Alfred, the Little, Austin and "Doctor" Robert Bridges, his successors, are ridiculous as the occupants of an office of distinction and eminence in English letters, in the world of English literature, an office once filled respectively by Ben Jonson, Dryden, Rowe, Colley Cibber, Southey, Wordsworth and Tennyson.

William Butler Yeats, noted for eccentricity in literary criticism, says that "Dr. Bridges is the greatest living English poet." Yeats has never said anything more ridiculous. We, on this side of the ocean, ought to ship over to him William Watson's, or Rudyard Kipling's books, or even John Massfield's, and he might really learn something of poetic literary values.

Doctor Bridges is neither a great, nor even a popular poet. He has published eight or 10 books of ordinary poetry, and about the same number of plays that are never played and never read. As a laureate he has written very few national poems. His "Caractacus," "Mistral Delirious," "Elegy—the Summer House on the Mound," etc.—what do they all amount to? Perpetrated today, forgotten tomorrow? What single poem has he ever written that hasn't rushed itself into oblivion a few weeks after its nativity?

When he was appointed Post-Laureate in 1912, literary people asked, "Who is Doctor Bridges?" What has he written? And they have not received much enlightenment since then. Mr. Asquith appointed him simply because they both read the same Latin before breakfast, and both declined reading the moderns, either before or after breakfast, and furthermore, Margot Asquith's husband is a good party politician and uncommonly ignorant of literary values. Again, maybe Margot remembered that the man whose prominence entitled him to the office, wrote "The Woman With the Serpent's Tongue."

Really, since his appointment in 1912, what has "Doctor" Bridges done to prove that he is worthy of the office? What has he not done to demonstrate his unfitness? Let us say that his verse is often elegant, occasionally musical, and generally flat and commonplace, though correct constructively. He belongs to the school of the forgotten, incompetent laureates, Davenant, Tate, Rusden, Wharton, Whitehead, Fye and Austin, and is not even as much of a poet as some of these were.

ALEXANDER N. DE MENIL

Dog Lovers and Haters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A PERSON signing himself "Sympathizer" in Friday night's Post seems to have a grievance against poodles—and tries to ridicule some poor soul who has lost her dog. I gather this man, for such I believe him to be, does not like dogs. Of course we can hardly help our human traits, but were I that man I should try to feel differently. You see, the meanest man I know hates dogs. (His brother, who killed several men and was hung for it not excepted). All our great men are dog-lovers. I do not know why, but it is a fact that only noble people love animals. It is more to one's credit to love a helpless thing than to think only of one's self.

SWINBOURNE.

The Friendship of Dogs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE "Letters From the People" column is indeed a wonderful channel by which to reach those who do not seem to be friendly to the most intelligent and loving animal we have, the dog. From the tone of "Sympathizer's" letter, he is evidently one who could be enlightened on the subject. If he will read Senator Vest's eulogy on the "Dog" he probably will not be so hard on the little poodle who showed its affection by rubbing its snout on his pants leg. Is there not something wrong with folks who can not see some good in the dog, which is classified as the most intelligent and loving animal we have (including the poodle)? It may be said of all dogs: "Once your friend, always your friend." That is more than can be said of all the human race.

Give me a dog's friendship every day to some folks I know, using common sense, of course.

If you are only thinking the one poodle, please give the rest of the dogs some credit for the loyalty they have proven. A dog is the only living thing some people have to talk to.

A FRIEND OF THE DOG.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR CRIME.

The grand jury in its final report hit the nail on the head touching professional bondsmen, "fronters" and "fixers," when it said that "the chief trouble does not lie primarily with the bondsmen and the fixers, but with the Judges themselves." Manifestly, the grand jury states, the bondsmen evil would disappear if the Judges would not listen to or be influenced by unfit bondsmen and "fixers."

The same point might properly be made in connection with the report dealing with crime. It is not so much more drastic laws that we need but the prompt and certain enforcement of the laws we have. Swift and sure punishment under present laws would do more to put down crime than anything else. Drastic laws providing excessive punishments have been tried time and again in the past without success, because they are not enforced. Nonenforcement of laws, delays in procedure, obstructive trivial technicalities, the laxity of Judges and law officers, the influence of politicians to protect criminals—these are the things that promote and encourage crime.

No matter how much the police force is increased nor how efficient it is, nor how many arrests are made, police activities are useless unless arrests of criminals are followed by vigorous prosecution and prompt punishment. Everything depends upon the prosecuting officers and the Judges.

The persistence of crime directs public attention to the necessity of having honest and efficient Judges and law officers. In the final analysis, the protection of citizens from criminals rests with the citizens themselves who elect the Judges and law officers.

That improvements ought to be made in the State system of bank examinations which are urged by the grand jury is obvious. The inefficiency of State bank supervision has been proved beyond cavil by the looting of banks. The recommendations of the grand jury should be considered and acted upon by the next Legislature.

THE CITY PAYROLL BOOST.

In the raising of salaries of 6400 employees by $762,000 a year the city has taken a potential step forward from a pension and patronage basis towards an efficiency basis. There are two theories of paying out money for service. The political idea is to provide jobs for the greatest number of friends of the administration, the service being incidental, and the lower the salaries the more the jobs. The second is the efficiency-economy idea of getting the most service for the money expended.

The St. Louis city administration is somewhere between the extremes of the political and business standards. An addition of three-quarters of a million to the payroll may be used as a melon to bring cheer to hungry employees or it may be regarded as an opportunity to put the city servants on a competitive basis, weeding out dead timber and hiring employees on merit only. In the former instance it would be a dead weight to the taxpayers. In the latter it would be an appreciable saving.

Witnesses differ as to what Hamon said he did, but all agree that he talked in generous figures.

WHO SHOULD USE THE CAPITOL?

Gov. Hyde is right in seeking a rule for use of the State Capitol for public meetings that would be fair to all organizations, with the qualification that such organizations be worthy of the privilege of such use. He professes to be in a quandary as to formulating such a rule. He appears to think that it is merely a matter of permitting free speech and says: "We cannot cure intolerance by being more intolerant."

True. But when free speech is an excuse for propaganda that sets neighbor against neighbor, citizen against citizen, friend against friend; that stirs up hatred and may lead to civil strife, should we open public buildings, paid for and supported by the taxpayers of every religion, party and race, to the apostles of such propaganda? This is the point with regard to permitting the Ku Klux Klan the privilege of the Capitol.

Is this a true indictment of the Klan? The issue of the Patriot for March 27 answers this question. This issue is the same old Missouri Flery Cross, whose publishers put a fraudulent slogan contest over to obtain subscribers. That act of fraud appears to have injured the organ, and therefore it has gone back to the old title. But the leopard has not changed its spots.

On the back page it advertises lying, slanderous and unappealing anti-Catholic propaganda books and pamphlets. It clubs its subscription with that of the Menace, a slanderous periodical which for years has been stirring up religious strife, the results of which are to be seen in the tremendous rush of candidates to the Ku Klux fold, with minds already poisoned against their neighbors by reading that sheet.

The same issue of the Patriot assures its readers that the Ku Klux Klan is not against Catholics, Jews or negroes!

With a record of mob violence, with a program of disfranchisement of those who do not conform to its religious and race standards, and with its daily business of arousing religious and race prejudice still in evidence, is the Ku Klux Klan deserving of an invitation to spread its doctrines in Missouri's State Capitol? Can the State afford to further the aims of such a mischievous organization?

BUYING THE FARMER VOTE.

The reported attitude of the House towards the McNary-Hangen bill raises a serious question as to the good faith of our Representatives in Congress and their sense of responsibility to the country.

Readers of the Post-Dispatch are familiar with this bill. It is proposed to create a Government export corporation, with a capital of $200,000,000 provided from the funds of the United States Treasury, to purchase surplus farm products and sell them abroad, in order to maintain higher prices for farm products in the home market.

Plainly, this is subsidy. Plainly, too, if the Government grants a subsidy to one interest it will have to do the same thing for any other interest that may temporarily be in distress. Accordingly, nobody can foresee the ultimate costs and consequences of such an experiment. Yet the House is said to be eager to pass this bill, not because the members believe it a sound plan or a safe policy to establish, but because they believe it will be a popular thing politically to support such a measure. And they save their consciences with the assurance that the Senate will defeat the bill. In other words, they appear willing to vote against their convictions, their judgment and experience as a bid for the support of their farmer constituents.

The attitude is thoroughly perfidious. Legislators who stoop to such practice are dishonest with themselves, with the farmers and with the country. They ought gladly to welcome defeat in preference to purchasing votes with such spurious coin. So far from launching the country, at the behest of the farmers, on the policy of subsidy, they ought to do away with the vicious practice of the tariff. The cure for the economic ills from which the farmers now suffer lies not in more subsidy but in utterly abolishing special privilege. It is the Republican tariff, that vast system of spoils and privilege, which is impoverishing the farmer.

As values go—Dempsey (movie actor) $1,000,000; Will Hays (spelling), $300,000; Attorney General of the United States, $12,000.

MR. DAVIS DECLINES.

John W. Davis of West Virginia is attorney for many important business houses, including the Morgan banking firm. He declines to give up those clients in order to promote his availability as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Answering a suggestion along that line he says, among other things:

The only limitation upon a right-thinking lawyer's independence is in the duty which he owes to his clients, once selected, to serve them without the slightest thought of the effect such a service may have upon his own personal popularity or political fortunes. Any lawyer who surrenders this independence, or shades this duty by trimming his professional course to fit the gusts of popular opinion, in my judgment, not only dishonors himself but degrades the great profession to which he should be proud to belong.

Mr. Davis is admittedly one of the country's ablest lawyers. He has never been employed for any tortuous or circumstantial influence he might have. He has been a member of Congress and Ambassador to Great Britain, but neither office has promoted his earning capacity. His position, as stated, is sound logically, ethically and politically. Mr. McAdoo may question the political wisdom of such an attitude. But Mr. McAdoo, it should be borne in mind, has had rather limited experience both in law and in politics.

The Republican National Committee intimates that Senator Wheeler is a dangerous radical, and we're frank to confess that nobody out this way ever suspected the Montana Senator of being a safe and sane conservative.

Would I were poet born—a bard,
A patch of gold is on the sward.
A patch of gold is on the sward,
A patch of gold is on the sward,
A patch of gold is on the sward,
A patch of gold is on the sward.

Ah, April with your dewy smiles,
Your laughter ever near the tearful;
Your mood my leisure hour beguiles—
Ah, April with your dewy smiles,
Ah, April with your dewy smiles,
Ah, April with your dewy smiles,
Ah, April with your dewy smiles,
Ah, April with your dewy smiles.

The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf,
Is brighter for the raindrops falling;
Fair April with your life so brief,
The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf,
The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf,
The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf,
The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf,
The sunbeam shimmering on the leaf.

Yet—we must live and work and play—
I write for fame and not for dollars;
But should you think I've earned the day,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play.

For we must live and work and play,
I may have seemed a bit too gay,
I'll be quite drab in all that follows:
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play,
Yet—we must live and work and play.

Sir: Some misguided patriot has written Gov. Small asking him to make the anniversary of the declaration of war against Spain a holiday. We now have about 27 holidays, not to speak of Jewish new year, St. Patrick's day and the battle of Herring. The miners took a five months' holiday last year, and the operators gave them the other seven. Some of us would like to work four or five weeks every year, so we could pay an income tax. It was only the excellent fishing ability displayed by the miners and our bumper crop of donations that saved the day for us. The Spanish War Veterans desire no pennas sung now. It is too late! The army that never lost a fight, a gun or a flag has long since been forgotten.

There is a man in our town,
And he is mighty wise;
He fitted smoke screens on his specs,
And uses both his eyes.

"No path of flowers leads to glory," said Fontaine, who would probably agree that you can say it with flowers but having said it are done.

An impression that Mr. Bryan means to grab the nomination at New York seems growing in the country. It is pointed out that he has by this time a candidate for the nomination in most of the states, and oldsters recalling bits of the Bryan strategy say this was always effective. It really would not surprise us to see something of the sort happen. Mr. Bryan has never liked New York. He has blamed Wall street for his numerous defeats. He feels that except for the antagonism of wealth he would have spent in the White House at least eight of the years through which he has languished in exile on the chautauqua circuit. His thirst for revenge could hardly resist the temptation to lift the nomination out of the very lap of Wall street and make off with it very much as the pipe's son did with the celebrated pig. Much less amusing things than this could happen, and few such likely fears are afoot.

Of course, in becoming a Morgan attorney Mr. Davis settled for us and himself the question of his availability as the Democratic candidate for President. Since it is the point of view that gives color to the prospect, nobody is in the least doubt about what kind of President a Morgan attorney would make. We have excellent proof of this in the fact that the New York Times is for Mr. Davis and may be said to have been for him ever since he became a Morgan attorney. The statement we have from him this week is in redundancy. We were already looking for somebody else.

Sir: Your proposal to confine the faith of the Republican party to the region east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio by nominating a liberal Democrat like Senator Kendrick of Wyoming as the Democratic candidate for President strikes me as a capital idea. We could call it the Republican Reservation, and with the liberals in power we could treat the reactionaries as we have treated the Indians. The Old Guard has had Senator La Follette upon a reservation in Wisconsin for a long time, and I don't know why they should not be paid off in their own coin. There are some people in the East who would not like to be penned up in this fashion with folks like Wall street and the tariff barons, but there are openings in the West still for all who care to pull out and come.

The Turks are having a dreadful time about equal suffrage. "Give the women votes, and in 10 years the men will be women, too!" exclaimed one old member of the national assembly. Maybe something can be found out about it by sending a commission over here to ascertain what the effects of equal suffrage have been upon men in the United States. Its report would likely cause a great deal of amusement everywhere except in the United States.

Statistics show there are more automobiles than telephones. And the reason why you seldom get a right phone number these days is because some phone operator is dreaming of riding around in one.

"Can fish talk?" asked a scientist. Anybody who has a radio and has to listen to some of the speeches broadcast can tell him that they most certainly can.

WASHINGTON SPY SERVICE.

From the New Republic.

ARMIES of private detectives have been built up in the Treasury Department, the Postoffice Department and about the Department of Justice. Such operations are wholly undesirable even when voted to the public service. . . . Employment which attracts an inferior personnel in the first place, and degrades even them; and it gains no results worth having which could not be secured other ways. Unfortunately, this class is far from being the worst. There is reason to believe that the spy system of the Government has been used in the attempt to hamper the investigation in progress of corruption in high places. . . . New members of Congress are shadowed for weeks after their first arrival in Washington. Rooms in the Congressional buildings are entered at night and important papers mysteriously disappear. Telephone wires are tapped. An atmosphere such as this generates a moral among honest men, with nothing to conceal, cowed and terrorized by the fear that denials of wrongdoing will be turned against them. The greatest task is to get the Government to believe that the spy system is a waste of money.

The regular visiting hours, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., are being maintained for the show, with the exception of 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. When visitors will have no more opportunity to see the show until next week, though the Garden Club, which is in charge of the show, has granted to the Greenhouses for its annual flower show in May.

POTTED PLANT DISPLAY AT SHAW'S GARDEN

Flowers Arranged as if in Beds, Giving Them an Outdoor Touch.

An attractive Dutch garden arrangement is being used at the Missouri Botanical Garden for the last of the season, which opens Sunday and will continue several weeks. The result is strikingly natural.

Instead of displaying the potted plants upon tables and benches, garden officials have made "flower beds" by burying the low pots beneath moist, decomposed leaves, having the appearance of soil. A "cushion" touch to the beds, while the greenhouse floor has been sand-bered to form natural looking "walks" through the garden.

A white pergola divides the garden in half, without interfering with the central vista, at the end of which, against a soft background of dark green, is the customary piece of statuary found in real Dutch gardens.

Flowers Gracefully Arranged.

All the flowers, tulips, begonias, standard roses, are arranged in the graceful, formal symmetry of such gardens, with the perfect balance also maintained in the placing of wooden benches, painted to resemble stone, in various niches.

On entering the greenhouse, the visitor looks down from a terrace, where amaryllis are in bloom, into the first half of the garden upon beds of white and pink begonias of the European hybrid varieties, the seed of which in most instances was brought to this country last fall to be planted for this display. There is also the usual red begonia.

At the corners of each bed, all of which radiate from a central one, are set the standard roses—so-called because the buds are at the end of a long stem or standard which brings the rose to the height of the average person's head. This is accomplished by "budding" the ordinary varieties of monthly roses into the end of the stem of the hardy or wild briar rose.

The roses, which have been forced for the show, are now budding, but will be full blown within a few days. Because of excessive heat periods here in summer and of sudden freezes and thaws in winter, it is extremely difficult to grow the standard rose in this part of the country. By planting them in pots, however, and placing them in cool greenhouses in the winter, some success may be attained.

Section Colorful With Tulips.

That portion of the garden where the percola is colorful with tulips, pink and scarlet, diverging from a central bed of old-fashioned stocks and peonies. Purple iris flank them at the sides. About 300 more of the iris are being held in reserve to replace the tulips when the latter have lost their bloom. This probably will occur within a week, dependent upon weather conditions, as when fully opened by temperature above 70 degrees the tulips are apt to wither for only a few days. In the gradually warming springs of Holland the tulip dominates the Dutch gardens there for three weeks or more.

The regular visiting hours, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., are being maintained for the show, with the Sunday hours, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. The garden will have no more official interior displays until next fall, although the Garden Club of St. Louis will be granted use of the greenhouses for its annual free flower show in May.

COOLIDGE AND HYDE INDORSED

Fourteenth Congressional District Instructs Delegates.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., April 2.—Republicans of the Fourteenth Congressional district, in convention here yesterday, selected two delegates and two alternates to the Republican National Convention and endorsed one presidential elector. The outstanding fact of the meeting was the unanimous Coolidge-Hyde endorsement. The Hyde element of the party was so decidedly in the saddle that there was no strength of opposition.

The delegates are James A. Finch, of New Madrid, and Mrs. Belle J. Adams, of Ava. They were instructed for Coolidge and Hyde, for presidency and vice-presidency, respectively, but uninstructed as to their other choices. Finch and Mrs. Adams, in an interview following the convention, expressed themselves as favoring Dr. Clements of Macon for member of the National Committee, and Mrs. Gruesz Sample Burlington of St. Louis as national committeewoman. R. M. Hitt of Koshkonong was endorsed for presidential elector.

Philadelphia Tour Canceled.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—Disagreement with the musicians of the Philadelphia Orchestra over a new wage scale has resulted in the abandonment of the proposed tour of the orchestra to the Pacific Coast next season. Arthur Judson, the manager, announced today. Others closely associated with the organization said that the differences were adjusted temporary disbandment of the orchestra might become necessary. About 25 concerts in different cities had been planned for the Pacific Coast tour and part of the expenses of the trip had been un-derwritten. Judson said the proposed minimum wage rate was $60 a week. The men at first de-manded a 40 per cent increase, but agreed to accept 25 per cent.

He was active in Republican politics and his public service included four years in the City Council, three years as factory inspector and two years as Sheriff. Since 1906 he had been in the general contracting business.

Mrs. Coolidge to Award Trophies

WASHINGTON, April 2.—National trophies will be awarded by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at the White House on Flag day, June 14, to girls and young women essayists who best describe the reasons why young men they know should attend the Citizens' Military Training Camps conducted each summer by the War Department. The contest is sponsored by the Women's Overseas Service League, has been approved by the Secretary of War, and yesterday was given formal approval by Mrs. Coolidge. Miss Louise Wells, president of the service league, was informed by Mrs. Coolidge that she would award the trophies. Mrs. Coolidge reminded her callers at the White House, including a delegation of league officials, that her two sons would attend military training camps in New England this summer.

ST. LOUISAN MAY GET $5000 RIVER POSITION

Many Applicants for Federal Job Held by Late Col. John A. Ockerson.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-25 Wyatt Building, WASHINGTON, April 2.—Secretary of War Weeks hinted today that he would recommend a St. Louisian for membership on the Mississippi River commission to succeed the late Col. John A. Ockerson. Nine Missouri engineers are known to be seeking the position, together with about 80 applicants from other parts of the Mississippi Valley.

Major-General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, who makes recommendations to the Secretary of War, recently explained there were about 40 applicants for the position, which calls for a qualified engineer and pays $5000 a year. He refused to disclose the names of the outstanding candidates, but volunteered the information that they were from St. Louis, Chicago and New Orleans. The position is much sought after, as it requires only part-time service. The commission is composed of a president, Col. Charles L. Potter, and six members. It acts in an advisory capacity to the army engineers in charge of river work from St. Louis to New Orleans.

If the Senate does not change the flood control item in the army appropriation bill which passed the House, the commission will supervise the expenditure of $10,000,000 authorized last year for improvement of the river below St. Louis.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce has written to the Secretary of War and the St. Louis Congressmen urging that a St. Louis man be appointed.

The outstanding candidates from St. Louis seem to be Col. John A. Laird, who served with the Twelfth Engineers during the war, Gen. E. J. Spencer, Maj. J. L. Vanorum, head of the civil engineering department of Washington University, and Charles M. Talbert, former Street Commissioner.

The first two have been endorsed by Representative Dyer.

Senator Spencer said that he had not made any recommendation but had received requests for endorsements from E. J. W. Voormann, Luther Y. Kerr, H. K. Munroe and Edward Flad, in addition to those already named. He said his recommendation would be for an engineer who is a Missourian and a Republican.

Representative Newton, who has specialized in rivers and harbors legislation, said that he had no candidate and that he had forwarded letters requesting the position to Gen. Beach.

$120 AVERAGE COST OF TRAINING TEACHERS

Expense to State Will Be Lowered by New Regulations, Lee Declares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch, JEFFERSON CITY, April 2.—Cost of training public school teachers last year ranged from $80 to $500 apiece, the average cost being $120. This is disclosed in a statement issued today by State Superintendent of Schools Lee in explanation of new regulations effective next September regarding teacher training schools, which he says will result in lowered costs.

"There seems to be an opinion that the new rulings will force teacher-training out of the small high schools, but this is not supported by facts," Superintendent Lee said. "In May, 1923, the 124 public teacher training high schools graduated 1488 students, or an average of 12 plus per school, at an average cost to the State of $120 each. There were in this number 33 high schools that graduated an average of 18 plus, at an average cost of $80 each. On the other hand, there were 42 schools that graduated on an average less than seven per school at an average cost of $220 each.

Comparative Valuations.

"The average assessed valuation of the 22 school districts that graduated 18 plus on the average was $1,000,000 less on the average when compared with the school districts graduating less than seven. The average population of the 22 school districts that graduated 18 plus on the average was 1000 less when compared with the school districts graduating less than seven. In other words, the small high schools had the larger teacher-training departments.

"During the school year 1922-23 the department sent $1500 to some high schools in the State that had only three in the teacher-training graduating class. In other words the State paid $500 for each teacher-training graduate.

"The Legislature appropriated $365,000 for teacher-training work in 1923. My position in this matter is that I am not going to approve any school for teacher-training work when I know it will cost the taxpayers of Missouri $500 for each student graduated from the course.

Law Passed in 1913.

"The teacher-training law states that the State Superintendent should locate teacher-training departments where they shall render the most efficient service. I believe it

W. C. BROWN, COOPERAGE MAN, DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME

Born in Cape Girardeau. He Lived in St. Louis Nearly All His Life.

William C. Brown, 66 years old, vice president and treasurer of the Pioneer Cooperage Co., died shortly before last midnight of dilation of the heart following an attack of acute indigestion, which seized him about 15 minutes earlier as he was preparing for bed at his home, 5261 Westminister place. Two physicians, hastily summoned, were in attendance when he died.

Although born in Cape Girardeau, he lived in St. Louis virtually all his life, being connected since manhood with the cooperage company, of which his father was the founder. His widow, Mrs. Mary E. Brown, a daughter, Dorothy, and two sons, Warren E. and William C. Brown Jr., survive. The funeral will be held from the residence at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

It is my duty to carry out the provision of this law. This law was passed in 1913 and the same rules and regulations adopted then were in effect when my administration began Jan. 8, 1923. The old regulation required 10 in both years' work. The new regulation requires 20 in both years' work or 10 in the senior class.

"If this ruling were in effect at the present time it would only affect 29 schools out of 125 and only small number of the 29 will be affected next year since they have large junior classes this year.

"The rule requiring a larger number in the teacher-training departments is made in response to the desire for economy in the administration of public schools. I stand for economy in government."

DETECTIVE MAKES A LOTTERY 'KILLING'

Walking Into Basement, He Sees 30 Negroes and Contrives to Arrest 18 of Them.

Detective Albert White drew his revolver and 30 agents of the Reno Police Association watched the blue steel flash. The detective was in easy range. He could see the whites of their eyes with no trouble at all.

"Stand still," he ordered. Roughly speaking, there were two rows of prisoners in the basement room. The front row stood still. But those in the back row decided that if any bullets came they would have to go through the front row first. With this in mind, 12 negroes broke for freedom by way of basement windows.

"Don't shoot. Let 'em go," Boss—let 'em go!" yelled the men through whom the bullets would have to make their way before reaching any of the fugitives.

"Keep your feet still," Detective White snapped at the 18 remaining.

He saw a civilian passing and called out to him to send for the wagon and reinforcements. Both arrived in due time and White's 18 suspects were sent to the hold-over.

The situation had not been one of the Detective's making, exactly. He was walking down Pine street yesterday afternoon, having arrested a bootlegger a short time earlier, and considered a good day's work about done. When in front of 2029 Pine street he heard the sound of many voices.

"Yes, you will, won't you?"—"Now sub, I won't!"—"Well, hurry up an' draw."

Detective White went down the steps. He found himself in a crowded room—a room crowded with lawbreakers whom it was his duty to arrest. To retreat might have been perilous.

"Drawing for a lottery, eh?" he accused.

They hung their heads. The gun play followed. In addition to 18 prisoners, the police found $90.05 which evidently had been collected by the agents from ticket holders, also several number books.

EMBEZZLEMENT WARRANT AGAINST DUBOIS WITHDRAWN

Promoter, However, Is Bound Over to the Grand Jury on Another Charge.

A warrant charging Adolph Dubois, 31 years old, former horse buyer for the French army and later a promoter, with embezzlement by agent, was withdrawn yesterday when the complainant, George B. Kyle, 2822 McDonald avenue, gave notice he desired to drop the case because he had "now got my money."

Kyle had alleged that Dubois last August sold five shares of Metallic Industries, Inc., stock he had given him to be put on the market, and then withheld the $500 due him, repeatedly declaring that the stock remained unsold.

Dubois yesterday was bound over to the grand jury on charges of forging an indorsement in connection with the cashing of a $150 check accidentally left in his office in the Tower Building.

COLUMBIA U. STUDENTS OBJECT TO NEGRO IN DORMITORY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Fervent among Columbia University students living in Purnall Hall over the discovery a negro had been given a room in the building resulted last night, at a meeting of the House Committee, in a decision to transmit to the university authorities the suggestion that for the peace of all concerned he be asked to leave.

Members of the committee, in particular J. B. Rucker, chairman, a senior law student of Norfolk, Va., refused to make any statement after the meeting. It was learned, however, this action will be taken and that the matter would be in the hands of Dean Hawkes, as chairman of the University Committee on Residence Halls, probably today. Early yesterday Dean Hawkes was informed of the situation in Purnall Hall, and in a statement pointed out that students dissatisfied with their surroundings were privileged to change them and that discrimination against anyone on the matter of race would not be countenanced.

The student in question is Frederick W. Wells, enrolled in the law classes. He comes from Tennessee and completed his academic studies at Ohio State University and Yale. Purnall Hall is occupied only by graduate students. Japanese, Chinese and Hindus are accommodated there and no protest has ever been made against them. It was not ascertained whether Wells was the first negro to live in Purnall Hall, but it was that many of his race had lived there in recent years.

HARTMAN PUT UNDER ARREST ON HOMICIDE CHARGE

Taken in Custody for Slay-ing Peacemaker in Fight; Says Revolver Went Off Accidentally.

ORDERED HELD
BY THE CORONER

Shooting Followed Quarrel Between Hartman and Oliver Senti Jr., Over Girl, at Dance.

Arthur Hartman, 27, of 4427 Wilcox avenue, was arrested at noon today by detectives and charged with the fatal shooting of Gerard B. Cleary, in a saloon, cabaret, at 4100 Gravois avenue early Monday morning. He was taken into custody while standing at Theresa avenue and Lindell boulevard.

Hartman this afternoon admitted to the police. It was announced that he held the revolver with which Cleary was shot. Hartman asserted the gun was discharged accidentally while he was scuffling with Cleary after having fought off two other men who attacked him in the saloon.

Statement by Hartman.
In this statement to the police, Hartman told of dancing in the cabaret with Miss Viola Brennecke, 19 of 3942 Winnebago street, who had gone there with Oliver Senti Jr. He said nothing about the quarrel which arose between Senti and the girl because of this dance, but declared she later came to him and asked him to take her home.

After he and a friend had taken her home, they returned to the saloon and got a drink, Hartman said. On his entrance he went to a darkened wash room in the rear and, as he stepped inside he was attacked by two men. It was too dark to recognize his assailants, he declared, after relating that he knocked one down with his fist and kicked him.

The other assailant continued to strike at him, Hartman declared, and then someone in the barroom shoved a pistol through the door and cried "Here's a gun." He said he didn't know who it was intended for, but he grabbed it and ran outside.

Cleary, whom he had seen with Senti and Miss Brennecke before the dance incident, but did not know, then advanced upon him and ordered him to stop, Hartman said. When Cleary continued to advance, Hartman declared, he fired a shot in the floor to frighten him. Cleary leaped upon him and grabbed his arm, and in the struggle the weapon was discharged, Hartman contends.

A coroner's verdict of homicide was returned today holding Arthur Hartman for the shooting of Cleary.

In the absence of any testimony of eyewitnesses to the shooting which occurred in the darkened bar, the coroner announced that Hartman could be held only for second-degree murder, which is bailable.

Quarrel Was Over Girl.
At today's hearing, which concluded the inquest begun yesterday, Senti was recalled. His rival attentions with Hartman for the friendship of Miss Brennecke, a telephone operator, led to the shooting.

Under detailed questioning, he admitted he did not actually see the shooting and could not identify the slayer. Policemen were recalled and questioned as to whether they had found any eyewitness. Senti testified George Walters of 3149A Alfred avenue, who, Miss Brennecke had testified, offered to provide Senti with a gun, went to several tables and engaged in conversation, while the trouble was brewing. He said he overheard a scrap of conversation in which a man, speaking to Walters, said, "Don't fool with those guys; they'll clobber you." He was asked if he had ever seen Hartman before, to which he replied in the negative. Walters, Detective Sergeant Linder, head of the Homicide Squad, announced, was to surrender today as a prisoner pending investigation.

Other Testimony.
Harry Slinger, 4244 Humphrey street, who was with Cleary and Senti, repeated the story of Senti's return to the table and of telling Cleary there was "a man out there with a gun." He said he followed Cleary out to the bar a moment later, and saw him leaning against the bar. In the dark, he said he saw a man flourishing a revolver above his head. When the shots were fired, he testified, he ran back and grabbed his overcoat and Cleary's. As in the case of previous witnesses he replied on cross-examination that he would be unable to identify the slayer.

Miss Brennecke yesterday related that she had gone to the cabaret with Senti, who had been attentive to her for two months, and that Senti became angry because she danced with her old beau, Hartman, a service-car driver. Hartman took her home and then returned to the dance hall, getting into the scrape that led to the murder of Cleary, who essayed the role of peacemaker.

As has been told Cleary was 39 years old, the head of an armored truck service company, specializing in payroll deliveries, and lived at 4976 Arsenal street. He is survived by his wife. His funeral will be held tomorrow.

2300 Painters Refuse $1.00 a Day Increase

Timbers and asbestos workers accepted it and went back to work. Union Painters are still on a strike, demanding $12.00 a day, or $2 a day more than is paid in any other city in the world. We consider this excessive and unreasonable. We respectfully ask the public to refrain from doing any painting, papering or decorating until these men accept our liberal offer made of $10.00 a day.

BRAZILIAN COFFEE GROWERS ASSAILED FOR PRICE BOOSTS

Mounting prices of Brazilian coffee and the danger of a "buyers' strike" have caused the St. Louis coffee dealers to cast around for some means of forcing Brazilian growers to reduce their prices.

to what they were three months ago. Dalton L. Kinsella, vice president of Hanley & Kinsella Coffee & Spice Co., suggests a national organization of coffee roasters to reduce prices by convincing growers of the danger of a serious curtailment in the amount of coffee exported to the United States.

"Within three months the price of Brazilian coffee has advanced from 40 to 50 per cent," Kinsella says. "The general increase has been brought about by artificial means. The growers know that we cannot get Brazilian coffee from anyone else and my impression is they think they might as well take advantage of their position." The consumption of coffee has not decreased as yet, but the danger is imminent, Kinsella says.

STATE SENATOR SEEKS NEW ADDING MACHINE CASE DELAY

Tillman Anderson's Attorneys Say
One of Their Number

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 2.—Attorneys for State Senator Tillman W. Anderson of Commerce, Mo., who is charged with the theft of an adding machine from the State Capitol during the last session of the Legislature, have notified the Attorney-General they will seek another postponement of the trial, scheduled for April 7, at Linn, Osage County, because of the illness of A. T. Dunn of Jefferson City, one of the defense attorneys, indicated that the State is not favorable to another delay.

The charges against Senator Anderson were brought in on April 1, 1933, following investigation of the disappearance of typewriters, desk lamps and other property from the Capitol at the adjournment of the Legislature. The investigators reported they found an adding machine and a typewriter identified as State property at Anderson's home in Commerce. Anderson said he borrowed the property. Similar information was filed against Representative Allen D. Morrison and his clerk, Nile Davidson, both of Green City, Sullivan County, charging them with the theft of two typewriters. At their preliminary hearing at Milan, last Tuesday, a Justice of the Peace dismissed the charges on the ground the State failed to prove the typewriters ever had been in the county. State officers said Morrison admitted having the typewriters but asserted he borrowed them.

LAMAR, "WOLF OF WALL ST.", ABANDONS FIGHT IN COURTS

Ready to Serve One-Year Sentence for Conspiracy Which He Has Fought Several Years.

TRENTON, N. J., April 2.—David Lamar, "wolf of Wall street," has given up his fight to escape service of the one-year imprisonment to which he was sentenced several months ago for conspiracy to cause strikes along the New York waterfront and prevent the shipment of munitions abroad during the World War. Today he withdrew his appeal of Judge Reistab's recent ruling upholding his conviction, in which the Court decided that Lamar had been sent to the wrong place of confinement.

Under Judge Reistab's decision, Lamar will be taken back to the Federal Court of the Third District of New York for sentencing. Lamar recently appeared in the Federal Court here with an application for complete release from imprisonment on the grounds that he was being unlawfully incarcerated in a penitentiary. Judge Reistab upheld Lamar's contention that he should not have been committed to a penitentiary, as the financier's offense was not to be classed as an "infamous" crime. The Court refused to discharge the prisoner entirely, however, and Lamar decided on an appeal.

DUCHESSE LEADS ATTEMPT TO SAVE LIFE OF AMERICAN

U. S. Delegation Goes to Montreal to Petition for Life Sentence for New Yorker.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, April 2.—Led by the Duchesse de Richelieu, a delegation of Americans has arrived in Montreal bent on saving the life of Walter Muir, New York youth who awaits hanging Friday for murder. They have petitioned for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

Muir, 20 years old, shot Henri Lavollette in the Hotel Windsor at Valley Field, last September. Muir was in Canada on a motor trip. His defense was that he fired his pistol at the floor to frighten off a man who was trying to cripple him.

The bullet struck Lavollette. The prosecution alleged that Muir was a bootlegger, a charge which now has been disproved, it is stated. The Duchesse before her marriage was Miss Eleanor Douglas Wise, of New York City.

TULSA ELECTS K. K. TICKET

Democratic Administration Victorious by Nearly 5000 Majority.

By the Associated Press.
TULSA, Ok., April 2.—The Democratic city administration of Tulsa, backed by the Ku Klux Klan, was re-elected in entirety over the Republican and anti-klan ticket, in today's election.

Final returns gave Mayor Newblock a majority of 4545 over John R. Hadley. The incumbent received 10,854 votes against 8419 for his opponent. Like majorities were polled by all those on Newblock's ticket. The election was the first test of klan and anti-klan strength since martial law was invoked here last year by former Gov. J. C. Walton to end outrages, which he attributed to the klan.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PEORIA, Ill., April 2.—Democrats swept every ward in the city in yesterday's city election. It was hailed as a victory for the anti-klan forces. It was generally understood that the entire Republican ticket was composed of members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Ex-Gov. Leon R. Taylor Dies.
By the Associated Press.
DENVER, April 2.—Leon R. Taylor, former Speaker of the House of Representatives of New Jersey, who became Governor when Woodrow Wilson resigned that position to become President of the United States, died here last night.

WHY we Advertise our quality Nationally

Our advertising efforts are on a large scale—as the number of cities in which we advertise emphasizes, from coast to coast, north to south.

Our window displays and magazine pages in color are other supplementary agencies of attractive publicity as are also the college dailies.

We have adopted the use of publications which have wide and general circulation, to acquaint as many men as possible with the high standard of our clothes and thereby win public confidence in the Campus Togs label which identifies our product. We recognize that with national distribution our customers represent a national audience and we want to apprise the public first hand of the security in buying clothes with our label sewn in the inside pocket.

We don't sell every merchant in the country, but neither can any other manufacturer have access to such service to the public, in view of the competitive condition surrounding the giving of confined sale to merchants in various localities.

There are a lot of clothing manufacturers, but only a few standard lines that establish the barometer of quality and value which identify them as feature lines. We are one of these standard lines and with thirty-five years of reputation behind us, our guarantee of satisfaction is a substantial fortification in the selection of clothes which measure high for genuine service and thorough satisfaction.

At home or on the road DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Keeps him in good health

Clogged-Up? Here's Quick Aid

NEVER mind what you are using now for constipation. For all you know there is a better remedy! The next time you are clogged-up try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a laxative successfully used for 30 years, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Mrs. John A. Gann of Butteville, Ind., constipated all her life, her stomach injured from years of pill taking, is now functioning daily since taking Syrup Pepsin; and Mr. David O'Connor of Canton, Ohio, suffering steadily for three years, got relief after a few doses. The list of successful users of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is naturally large as over 10 million bottles are sold annually.

Formula on Every Package

Get yourself a bottle at a drug store, the cost being less than a cent a dose. Take a spoonful at bedtime for a few nights and we guarantee that the most chronic constipation will be relieved, or refund your money. A few doses in succession soon train the stomach muscles to act for themselves. A week, however, take once a week and in that way keep the bowels regularly open. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, unlike harsh physics such as calomel, "candy cathartics," salt waters and powders, is a simple vegetable laxative composed of Egyptian senna and pepsin with tasty aromatics, which are entirely harmless.

This Remedy Guaranteed

It has been accurately proven that a constipated person is only 75 per cent efficient. It slows you up; makes you dull and lazy. Take Syrup Pepsin the first day you do not have complete bowel movement. Take it, guaranteed, for constipation, torpid liver, dyspepsia, biliousness, sour stomach, headache, lack of appetite. A spoonful at the first sneeze or snuffle will kill a cold overnight. Half the ailments of winter start with constipation followed by a cold.

33,786 INCREASE IN NEGRO VOTERS IN FOUR YEARS

Chairman of Election Board Announces Analysis of Survey Made Here During Past Month.

MORE THAN DOUBLES
REGISTRATION OF 1920

Total Then Was 30,378, Which With the Advance Brings Number to 64,264.

The number of qualified negro voters in St. Louis has more than doubled in the last four years, John B. Edwards, chairman of the Election Board, announced today, following analysis of a survey of negro districts made during the past month at his direction.

The survey shows there are now 33,786 more qualified negro men and women voters than were registered for the presidential election in 1920. The total negro registration then was 30,378, including men and women, which with the increase, brings the total of qualified negro voters in the city at present to 64,264.

Of Political Importance. This increase in negro voters is regarded as important politically. Virtually all are expected to vote the straight Republican ticket. This will swell the already great Republican majority in the city and will make Republican politicians even more certain than formerly of electing any candidates whom they nominate.

The survey was made by Edward Victoria, a negro, who has been employed at the City Club for many years as a hat checker and whom Edwards said is entirely trustworthy. He was given explicit directions as to qualifications of those to be listed as voters. The increase does not include any negroes who have not resided in the State a year, the time necessary for voting.

81 Precincts Canvassed. Eighty-one precincts in 11 wards were canvassed in the survey, those being the precincts which include the thickly populated negro wards. The increase in each ward follows:

Ward	Increase
Fourth (7 precincts)	1,057
Fifth (11 precincts)	5,417
Sixth (18 precincts)	11,164
Seventh (3 precincts)	326
Eighth (1 precinct)	382
Sixteenth (8 precincts)	3,123
Seventeenth (7 precincts)	3,341
Nineteenth (5 precincts)	2,340
Twentieth (8 precincts)	1,827
Twenty-Second (2 precincts)	366
Twenty-Third (11 precincts)	3,583

Twenty voting precincts are to be added to the present total of 618 in the city to accommodate the increased negro vote and normal increases in other sections of the city. Chairman Edwards said: "These increases will be as follows: Two precincts added to the Fifth Ward; eight in the Sixth; one in the Seventh; one in the Thirteenth; one in the Sixteenth; two in the Nineteenth; two in the Twenty-fourth and one in the Twenty-fifth."

Chairman Edwards used information gathered during the survey to illustrate the congested housing conditions in negro districts, during a speech at noon today before the Lyons Club at the American Annex Hotel. He told of going to 613 Franklin avenue, where he found 67 negroes living in about a dozen small rooms in the rear of a store.

The survey disclosed that 160 negro families reside in two-story tenements fronting on "Shipman's Yard," on Franklin avenue, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets.

Championship Pikers Rounding Into Shape for Vanderbilt Meet

Rider Having Difficulty Developing Relay Teams—Weight Men Needed.

The Piker track team, which will engage in an intercollegiate meet with Vanderbilt University at Francis Field Saturday, is rapidly rounding into condition in spite of the recent unfavorable weather. The Washington athletes have been working outdoors all this week. The highest difficulty facing Coach George Rider is the development of good mile and half-mile relay teams to replace the stellar combinations of last year, and to produce several men for the weight events. There will be no half-mile relay in Saturday's meet, but there will be a mile race.

Capt. Joe Bier is the only member left of last year's team, which won the Valley title. Arnold Williams, a promising quarter-mile runner, is certain of a place on the quartet. Carroll has been showing well lately and will probably run third while Ralph Blanchard, the veteran hurdler, may be used.

Clinton Eiske and Herbert Kurns have been doing the best work in the weight events, particularly with the javelin. Paul Well, the football and basketball star, has been practicing with the discus for several weeks, and Rider feels confident that he will be able to score points.

Blanchard in Hurdles.
The Pikers will be strong in the other branches of competition. Ralph Blanchard will compete in both the high and low hurdles. On the strength of past performances, he is favored to win both.

In the speed events, Joe Bier and Underwert will represent the Pikers. Underwert has been rounding into form steadily and his work in recent practices has been impressive. Capt. Bier has been ill lately, but he is again in good condition and his running yesterday was above reproach. Bier is the conference 440-yard champion and is expected to win this event. He will also participate in the 220, the relay and perhaps the 100-yard dash.

The Pikers will also be well taken care of in the field events. Bier, who broad jumps in the neighborhood of 22 feet, is entered in this event. Fred Hagaman and Deville Mitchell will represent the Pikers in the high jump and the pole vault. Hagaman, who placed in the Illinois carnival, has been hearing the bar at six feet and has shown steady improvement. Mitchell can vault better than 12 feet. He won the event at the conference indoor meet last month.

The Pikers defeated Vanderbilt in dual meet at Nashville last year.

CITY HANDICAP PIN EVENT OPENS TONIGHT
The annual city handicap bowling tournament will be started on the Washington alley tonight, when eight teams from the Century Electric League are scheduled to roll. Opening addresses will be made by Mayor Kiel and officials of the St. Louis Bowling Association. More than 500 teams will compete.

Tom Rich Has Lost Heart and Quit the Browns; As a Big League Pitcher, Rich Is Evidently Poor

Champion Lewis Tosses Londos Two Out of Three Falls; Greek Wrestler Suffers Concussion

Heavyweights Out of the Ring More Than a Dozen Times, While 6000 Persons Excitedly Cheer Wrestlers—Londos Gains Second Fall, but Weakens in Final One.

By Dent McSkimming.

Jimmy Londos, most popular of all the heavyweights who have entertained St. Louis fans in recent years, had another chance at the world's championship in a bout with Ed Lewis at the Coliseum last night, and to all appearances, Jimmy came very close to tipping the scales off Lewis' brow.

Each man had gained a fall in about one hour and a half of toss-combination of last year, and to produce several men for the weight events. There will be no half-mile relay in Saturday's meet, but there will be a mile race.

Capt. Joe Bier is the only member left of last year's team, which won the Valley title. Arnold Williams, a promising quarter-mile runner, is certain of a place on the quartet. Carroll has been showing well lately and will probably run third while Ralph Blanchard, the veteran hurdler, may be used.

St. Louis Soccer Stars Selected For Bethlehem

One All-Star Eleven Meets Imported Team Saturday, Another Sunday.

Two teams of St. Louis Soccer League stars were selected at a meeting of league officials last night to meet the Bethlehem team here Saturday and Sunday. Almost every player of first rank in the league was given a place on one of the combinations.

The selections follow:
Saturday team—Diel (Scullins), goal; Scott (Vespers) and Hitchcock (Scullins), fullback; Murphy (Ben Millers), Schwepp (Hoovers), Peterson (Hoovers), halfbacks; E. Dunn (Hoovers), Ballam (Hoovers), Schwarz (Scullins), Bergin (Vespers) and McCarthy (Vespers), forwards.

Sunday team—Barnett (Hoovers), goal; Brady (Scullins) and Fitzgerald (Vespers), fullbacks; Hennessy (Scullins), Burke (Vespers) and Oster (Vespers), halfbacks; McHenry (Ben Millers), Harris (Vespers), J. Dunn (Hoovers), Brannigan (Scullins) and Fitzgerald (Hoovers), forwards.

Harry Oellerman, St. Louis athlete who is a member of the Bethlehem soccer team although he is at present in this city, stated yesterday that Bethlehem plays a more scientific game and will give a more pleasing exhibition of soccer than Fall River, the team which last Sunday defeated the Vespers.

Norley Praises A. Jackson.
"Bethlehem's players, with few exceptions, 'just got off the boat.' Many of them have not been in this country a full year. They have not yet picked up the American slugging style which Fall River has to some extent adopted. Bethlehem plays a cleaner game than Fall River and, in exhibition contests, is a much better attraction," says Oellerman.

It developed yesterday that there is a possibility that Oellerman may play for Bethlehem during its visit here. He left the team two weeks ago when he found that the management was perfectly satisfied with goalkeeper Highfield and wished to keep Oellerman only as a reserve. "Dutch" wanted to play regularly so he asked the club that he thought it best to return to St. Louis.

Fall River players rendered Bethlehem great praise. Inside left Fred Norley, one of the stars of the Fall River forward line and one of the finest players that has ever appeared here, said that the younger of the Jackson brothers is "the sweetest football player I ever laid eyes on." The surprising thing is that he is a club player.

Physician Finds That Jim Londos Suffered Concussion of Brain

DR. W. M. H. WALTERS of the Nichols Building, who examined Londos in the Coliseum dressing room after the bout, telephoned the Post-Dispatch early today and reported that he found Londos suffering a slight concussion of the brain.

"My examination disclosed that Londos had a slight hematoma just above the left occiput which brought about periods of unconsciousness. The condition probably resulted from a blow on the back of the head."

Walters explained, was a blood tumor on the back part of the head. Londos was sleeping well this morning with his head in ice packs. The injury is not likely to prove serious, Dr. Walters said.

Londos appeared to break several headlocks by swiping Lewis into the ropes. However, in the past when Lewis exerted real punishing power with the head hold he forced his opponent's head and shoulders to the mat by sheer weight and strength. This occurred only once, last night. All other headlocks were put on in such a manner that Londos remained on his feet and in some mysterious and almost superhuman manner, whirled Lewis into the ropes.

Lewis gained the boots and catcalls of an angry crowd when he repeatedly sought refuge in the ropes, where Londos appeared to have punishing holds. However, there were several instances when Londos deliberately shoved his man into the ropes and most of his flying headlocks, the most spectacular incidents of the match, were clamped on in such a way that Lewis necessarily fell into the ropes.

After throwing Lewis into the ropes, Londos three times grabbed the champion's leg and tried to pull him back into the ring, causing a fatal furor among the fans and ending the referee's patience.

Sandow Argues With Mayor.
So heated did the discussion become at the ring side that Billy Sandow, manager of Champion Lewis, became involved in an altercation with His Honor Mayor Kiel. Excited spectators witnessed the controversy (they could not hear it for the great noise) arose to defend the Mayor and several missiles were hurled at Sandow. Police jumped up and warned the mob back to its seats.

Mayor Kiel later said that there was nothing serious about the details with Sandow. It was merely a flippant discussion of the merits of the wrestler, he said.

This novel situation came just before the third and final fall. Just as the Mayor's face flashed up and he reached his feet to better make his argument, Londos clamped whether toe hold on Lewis, both in a landing position.

On one leg, somehow kicked Londos over on his back and then fell upon him.

After Referee S. E. Avey of St. Joseph had tapped Lewis on the back in token of victory, both champion and challenger rolled over again and gave numerous evidences of being in exceedingly great pain.

Monks Is No Wonder.
The Gardini-Mondt bout proved one thing conclusively. Either the crowd or the referee is a hokum or Mondt was not trying last night. He left himself so helplessly open that it made it appear that a clever

MISS WETHERED WINS FROM MISS LEITCH BY 5 UP AND 3 SCORE
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, April 2.—The most decisive of supremacy in the field of women's golf in Great Britain has been definitely settled, in the opinion of the experts, by Miss Joyce Wethered's victory over Miss Cecil Leitch at Northwood yesterday.

Miss Wethered won, 5 up and 3, during her fourth victory in seven meetings with the former champion. She is just returning to competitive play after an absence of two years as an injured arm. Miss Wethered is 22 years old and Miss Leitch is 23 years old and Miss Leitch is the younger woman was superbly confident and never in trouble. At times, but Miss Wethered was deadly with the iron, planting her approach well up to the pin and on the short third, sinking her second for a birdie. She made but one error, topping her brassie approach on the fourteenth, and was only two over bogey for the 15 holes.

Miss Wethered, was hailed, by the newspaper critics today as "by far the best woman golfer in the world." The confidence of Miss Glenna Collett, a friend of Miss Glenna Collett, is in Miss Wethered. R. L. may have a different opinion.

The Charm of Correct Clothes

A COMPANY of well-dressed men and women always furnishes interesting material for a news story. What people in high places wear is eagerly read by all normal men and women.

It is normal to be interested in attractive clothing. It is normal to want to be correctly attired. It is entirely possible for every man and woman in St. Louis to belong to that distinguished company designated as "the best dressed people in town."

The latest and most interesting fashion story that ever charmed a reader is contained right now in the advertising columns of the Post-Dispatch.

Spring clothes is the fascinating subject of these style talks. They tell the men and women of St. Louis what are Fashion's latest decrees and where they may be executed.

With the Spring season on the way it is high time that thoughts were turned seriously towards clothes. Turn first to the announcements in the Post-Dispatch.

They are authentic style guides and they point unerringly to the shops and stores of St. Louis where shopping may be done with the greatest satisfaction and with true economy.

"St. Louis' best-dressed people" know that they do not have to seek apparel in the so-called "fashion centers" of the world, because St. Louis' progressive merchants have made their stores and shops "fashion centers" where the most desirable merchandise that is sold may be bought.

Read their fashion announcements as they appear every day now. They are illuminating and helpful guides to satisfied clothing selection.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. Do strong liquids injure the teeth? HENRY SIEGEL RUNS
SHOP IN HACKENSACK

Ex-Banker and Department Store Head, Who Served Jail Term, Does $25,000 Business.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Henry Siegel's chief ambition in life is to die. He said so yesterday when a Post-Dispatch representative found the erstwhile millionaire banker and department store owner in the little haberdashery he runs at 188 Main street, Hackensack, N. J. But a smile accompanies the declaration and he did not make it because he was "founded."

"I am too old," he said, whimsically, although he looks younger than he did 10 years ago when the $5,000,000 fortune he had built up from a clerkship at $2.50 a week, was wiped out in one of the city's more memorable failures. "It is all there is left." His shrewd face and calculating brown eyes lit up for a moment. He was thinking of another great ambition that now, at 65, he has relegated sadly to second place as a forlorn hope. For Henry Siegel dreamed dreams of "coming back" and awoke to find them—dreams.

"People have asked me to start another department store," he said. "People with money who were willing to back me. But it would take too much money these days—$5,000,000 at least—and the financiers with that kind of capital don't want an old man."

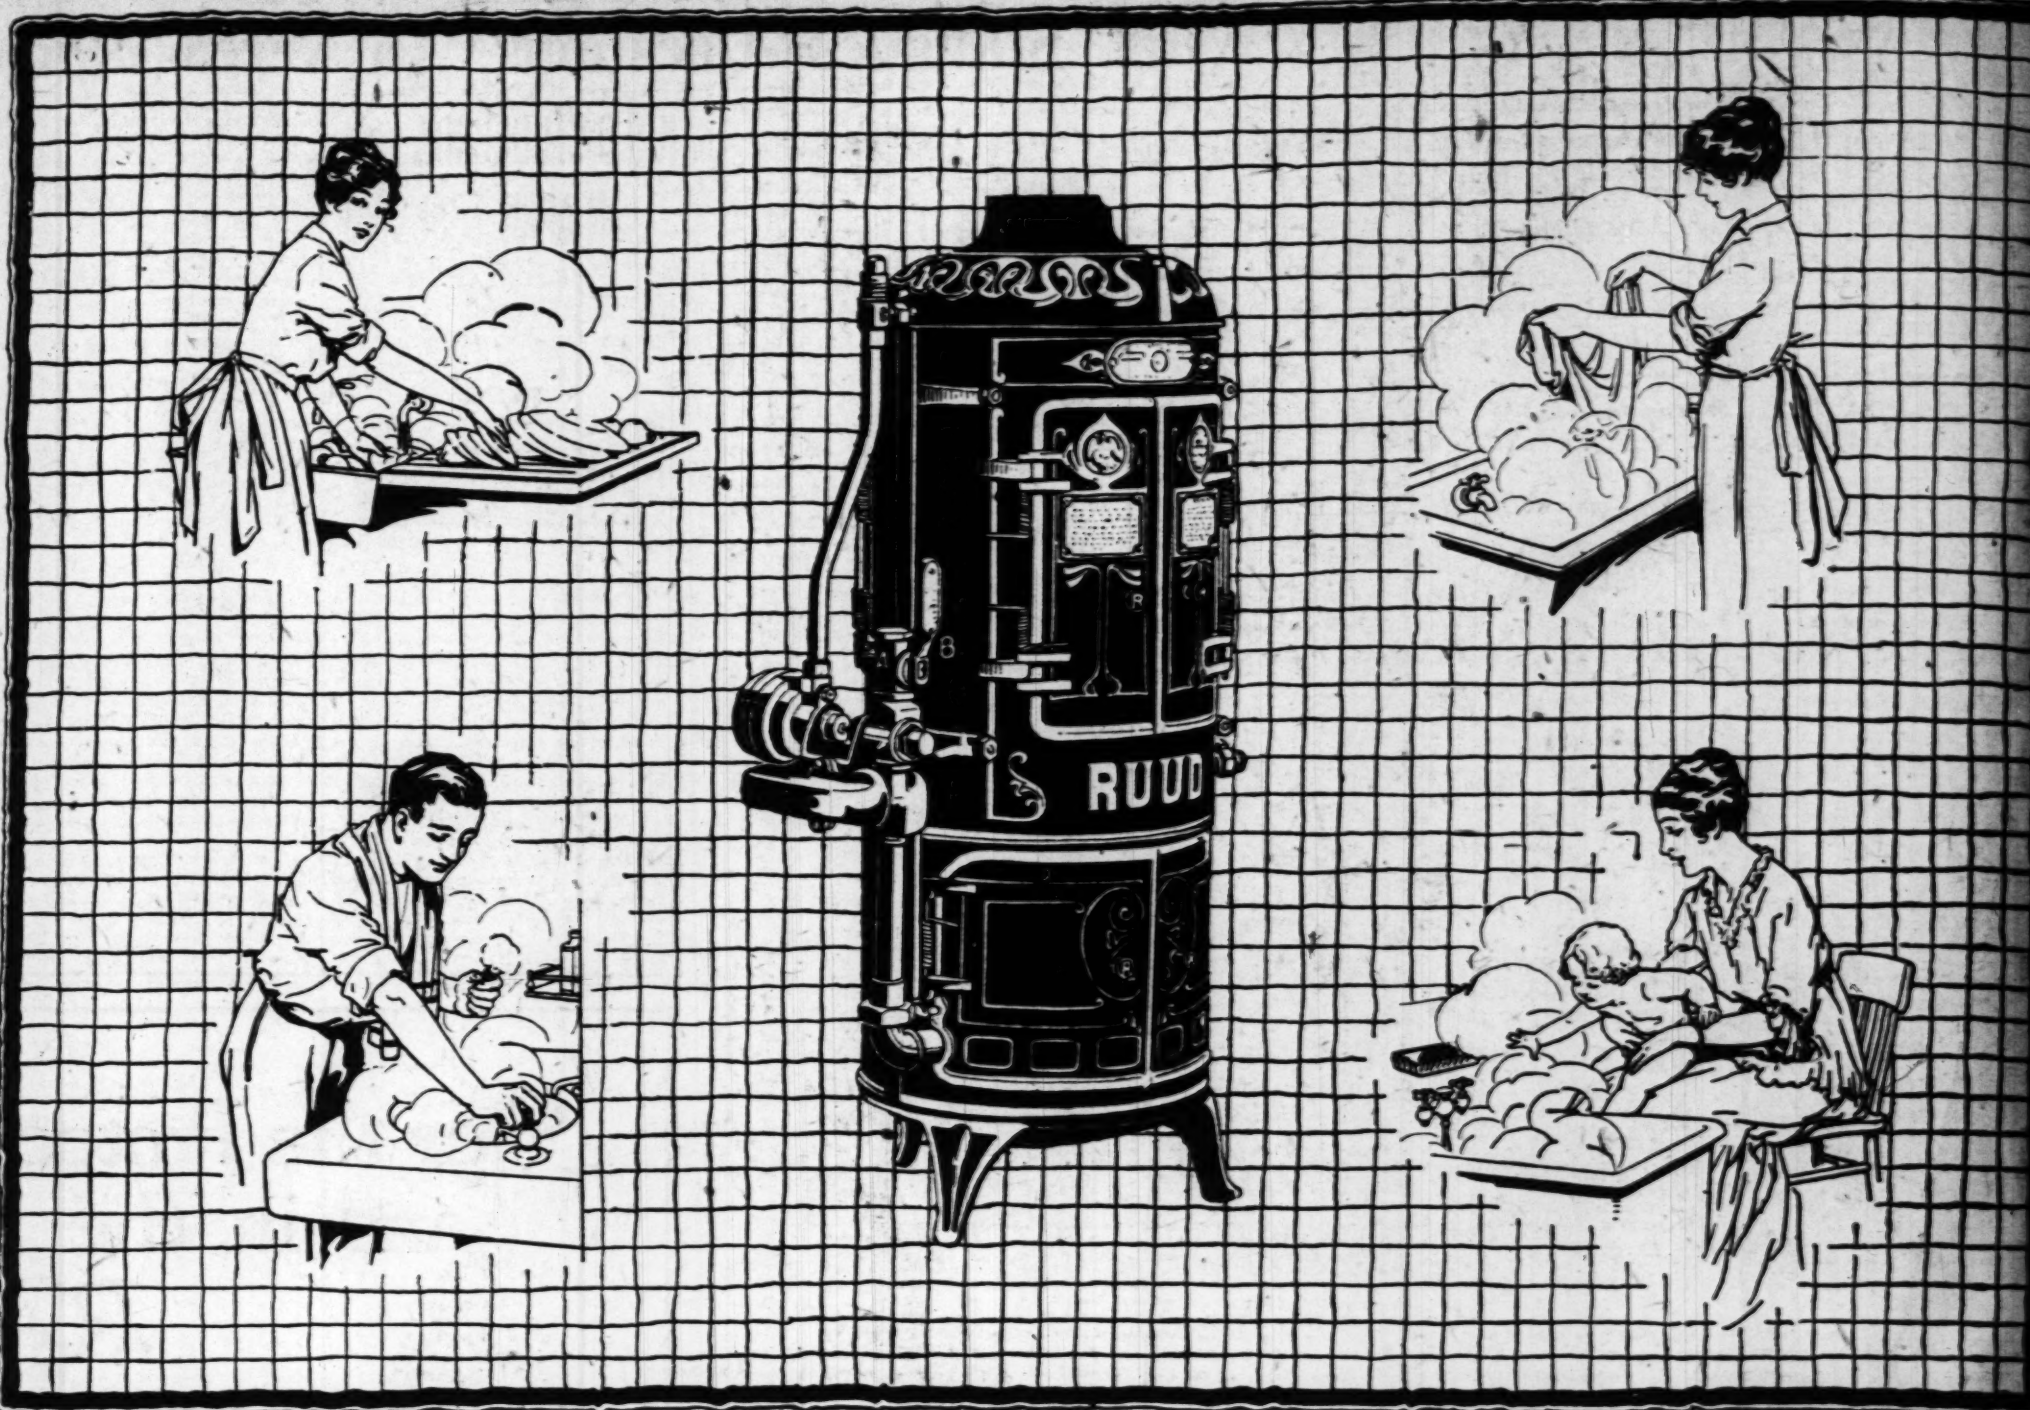

His eyes flashed and the old confidence bristled out all over. "I could do it, yes, and make it go. They all followed my lead in the department stores and I know as much as the best of them now." A shadow crossed his face and a sigh escaped him. Once more he was Henry Siegel, haberdasher, and knew these things were not to be.

Once Made $1,000,000 Profit.
Before revealing the real purpose of his visit the reporter, sauntered about the shop. It is called "The Henry Men's Shop."

Making a few purchases, he tottered then himself and counted out $2.35. As he took the money to the cash drawer in his desk Siegel said he gave up everything to his creditors when he failed. He was fined $1000 and sentenced to 10 months in Monroe County penitentiary. His firm of Siegel, Cooper & Co. in Chicago, he declared, did a $7,000,000 business one year with a profit of $1,000,000, and after a fumbling calculation with pencil and pad, he hurried out with a dime he had been overpaid.

Siegel said there was no secret about his being in Hackensack. His shop, he says, is owned by a stock company, in which his brother in Chicago, his married daughter and himself are the chief shareholders. He runs it with the help of one clerk. The Henry does between $25,000 and $30,000 business yearly, according to Siegel. It provides "a fair living" for Siegel and his second wife, who live in a five-room apartment at 113 Wood street, Rutherford, N. Y.

Abandonment Sentence Reversed.
Herman Kahler Jr. will not have to serve six months in the St. Louis County Jail and pay a fine of $300, which sentence was assessed by the Circuit Court on a charge of wife abandonment and failure to support. In reversing the sentence, the Court of Appeals asserts that the State failed to prove that defendant willfully deserted and neglected to support his wife without good cause and with criminal intent. The Kahlers lived at 6741 Scofield avenue.

How You Can Keep Away from Drudgery In Your Own Home

By WANDA BARTON

ONE of the most depressing things about the so-called "drudgery" of housework is the use of ugly, worn-out tools for the work. There is no necessity for this condition nowadays, when there are so many pretty, useful, moderate priced utensils to be had.

It is much easier to brush crumbs with the long-handled brush and long-handled dustpan painted attractively than to get down and grub them up with the old kind of tools. It is much pleasanter to dust the polished table, piano and other surfaces with a soft, yellow lamb's wool brush and a hand-drawn silk duster than to use an old brush and old flannel dust rag. The lamb's wool wall brushes with extension handles make the work easy and pleasant. A half-moon-shaped stair brush with soft bristles takes the labor out of brushing the stairs, for it penetrates into all corners.

The woman who uses the pointed brush or sash tool to brush around the window casements, then washes the window with a good-sized chamoloe does it well, quickly, and with the best results. A three-cornered scrubbing brush with a long handle makes cleaning big halls or a kitchen simple, while a self-wringing mop of soft cords takes up all surplus water, so that there is no kneeling or laborious work in connection with the cleaning.

In addition to the handy "dust-lean" dusters, there are soft feather dusters for pictures, coarse, coarse feathers for the upstair and differently-shaped brush brooms for furniture. Those who are fortunate enough to be equipped for vacuum cleaners know what an amazing help they are. Even a good carpet sweeper lightens labor where the vacuum is absent.

The housemaid's box or tin basket is another labor-saver that is pleasant to have. In the box are all the cleaning agents needed in the way of brushes, cloths, powders, soaps and so on. When going upstairs, take the box and everything will be at hand, there will be no need of running down stairs after a forgotten necessity. The under-the-bathbrush, the heater or register brush, the toilet tongs with box of specially-prepared paper—all are conveniences worth owning and real labor-savers.

The trouble is we have held the attitude of mind so long that anything would do to clean with that many of us have a gray and dreary outlook on the household problem. It is time to change all this. Every job has its correct tool, and efficient workers see to it that they possess that tool. Houseworkers are just beginning to realize what it means to bring their work up to date.

It was a long time before they took advantage of the rubber apron to save getting wet when washing clothes or dishes. But it didn't take the man of the farm long to realize that modern, responsive plows were the best investment he could make if he was to make the farm pay off its mortgage.

The new clothes-dryer which is a system of rods raised to the ceiling by a pulley at the side, was a wonderful help on stormy wash-days. Freshly-ironed clothing may be drawn up out of the way also with its aid if a meal must be prepared in a hurry.

All these conveniences help lighten labor and are well worth while.

THE REVELATIONS OF A PAID COMPANION

By JANE PHELPS

"Author of, 'My Husband and I,' 'A Wife's Story,' Etc.

CHAPTER XLIX.

RITA IS POWERLESS TO COMFORT LAUREL.

"I EXPECT you think me dreadfully silly," Laurel said as we walked alone.

She had been very quiet, staring straight ahead but seeing nothing, I knew. Was she concentrating her thoughts on Jim and Mollie, I wondered. Just as I decided I was mistaken, that she probably was thinking of something else, she said:

"I never have talked about Jim and myself to anyone before, Rita, but I feel I can talk to you, and it is such a relief."

"Tell me what you like, Laurel. I wish I could help you."

"You see I loved Jim the first time I met him, I wanted him. And—well, as you see I got him."

She smiled at me with eyes in which there was pain behind the smile.

"I think he loved me at first. Perhaps he loves me still—sometimes I think I am morbid. You see he is everything to me! But he cannot resist beauty—in a woman. It has been one affair after another until it seems sometimes that in spite of my love for him I can't endure it. I don't mean to say Jim has been faithless, untrue, but it is agony to know he is with them, saying nice things to them, perhaps making love to them. I wonder why such things are passed over in a man, and not in a woman. There is no justice in it," she said fiercely.

"I would be outside the pale if I did as he does—even if I could. It isn't fair! Sometimes I feel like a raging fury, again I am so sad, so depressed, I am naturally jealous, I have fought against it with all my strength, but I can't help it—I can't!"

"I don't know what to say, Laurel," I replied.

"I know so little about such things. But if you care so much for Jim, and feel he hasn't really been untrue to you—"

"I would rather be unhappy than live without him," she broke in.

I felt my eyes filling. I was so helpless to give comfort.

"Have you ever cared for anyone like that, Rita?"

She started me by asking.

"No—" I answered slowly, my thoughts reverting to Rush Millbank. I had thought I loved him. But I knew I had no such feeling as she had for Jim. I had been jealous in a way, resentful rather than Mollie should take him away from me; but what I felt for him was nothing like the agonizing despair of the pretty, colorless woman at my side.

"You see I never really had a chance to know young men," I said, then told her a little of my life with Aunt Agatha, more to distract her thoughts than because I thought she would be interested.

"Your time will come," she said with her sad smile.

"You are too good, too pretty, to escape."

She suddenly spoke of Mollie, asked about her friends, especially Doctor Millbank.

"Aunt Kate is anxious they shall like each other," she said.

"But it doesn't seem as if Mollie would care so much about being with others—about flirting, if she cared for him."

"Mollie can't help flirting," I replied, my face flushing as I thought of her parting with Jim the night before.

"But she is very sweet and lovable, doesn't mean to be cruel. She just doesn't think."

I finished incoherently.

"She should think! Aren't there unmarried men enough in the world without her taking Jim?" A sob broke her voice.

"She plans things I can't do, takes him away for all day, all the evening, as carelessly as if I didn't exist. And Jim is carried away with her, her beauty, her gaiety. I've a notion to speak to Uncle Elmer."

Her voice became hard.

"Oh, I wouldn't do that! Mr. Ellwood is so worried, so anxious over his wife, and it wouldn't do any good, only make Mollie worse. She can't bear correction. Why don't you talk to your husband, tell him how unhappy he makes you?"

"Just as though that would do any good. I have talked, pleaded with him, tried not to nag or be fault-finding, just show him how miserable he makes me and he only laughs, and tells me he can't live the quiet life I have to. He is generous, kind in a way, but I want more than that. I want him, his love."

Fears fell down her cheeks.

"It will come all right some day," I tried to comfort.

"He will tire of others, even if they are beautiful. He will realize your goodness and be different."

"You talk as if he were a boy. He's not. He's ten years older than I am, and ever since we have been married—after the first few months I have been afraid—so afraid."

What could I say? My inexperience fitly fitted me to advise or to comfort, so I urged our return, Mrs. Ellwood would need me.

Three Smart Spring Waistcoats For the Thrifty Girl

Illustrations by Alice Bailey.

By ANNE VAN BUREN BROWN.

THE tailored suit will be so universally worn this spring as to be almost a uniform. Its material, lines and silhouette will allow for departures only in small details. Its accessories are the important factor. Only by their fitness and distinction can your ensemble be original and correct.

The most important accessory and the first to consider carefully is the waistcoat, or waistcoat blouse, which is developed on this page in three up-to-date ways.

The first is copied from the advanced formal waistcoat worn with men's evening clothes. It is cut squarely across the front, and buttons very low and very snugly with four small buttons in double-breasted fashion. Its lapels are notched and may be worn outside or inside the jacket. We suggest pique as the smartest medium for this masculine little garment.

A model of this sort may be purchased for about $4.50, and copied afterward for about a quarter of that amount. Since the cost is so moderate and the making of similar ones thereby simplified, this money is well spent.

The second waistcoat is of that very fashionable material—white crepe satin. It is designed for the woman who prefers a higher collar for street wear. The small crystal buttons which fasten it straight up the front, its soft turn-over collar and Windsor tie, which tucks under the collar points, give it real smartness.

In order to keep the garment in place it is wise to have a strap and buckle across the back which can be adjusted as a man's is.

This waistcoat will cost about $18 or $20 if purchased, so that the better plan is to engage a sewing woman, who comes to one's home by the day, to make

Center—High-collared waistcoat blouse of white crepe satin for street wear.

Left—Another mannish model of percale or patterned madras, with tucked-around bosom and collar of self material.

Right—Square-cut, double-breasted waistcoat of pique, with notched lapels, style of men's evening clothes.

Some of the new accessories which give fitness and distinction to the correct ensemble.

at least the first one. The cost would then be cut in two.

Allow:

Three-quarters of a yard of crepe satin at $4.50 a yd. $3.40

One day of sewing woman's time at $3 a day. 8.00

One dozen crystal buttons 50c

50c

The third model is of percale, or patterned madras, in a soft shade of mauve or yellow. It too is very masculine in design, with its finely tucked round bosom and its collar of self material. A monogram tab may be added if desired, and straight, stiff link cuffs attached to the jacket. The smartest tie would be a straight, narrow crepe de chine affair of slightly darker shade. An artificial flower of harmonizing shade will complete the attractive whole (pansies, zinnias, dandelions and nasturtiums are procurable).

This idea is too new as yet to find in all the shops, so that the home dressmaker is still the simplest solution. The design is simple enough to be easily reproduced. Allow:

One day's labor. $4.99

One yard of material at $1 a yard. 1.00

Monogramming. 1.00

Tie. .50

$10.50

In the circle are illustrated some very new and attractive accessories which at the same time are most reasonable in price. The handkerchief square of polka-dotted cashmere is in white with black dots and may be procured at any man's shop for about $5. The monogrammed tie is a novel way of introducing this note into one's costume, and costs $2. The black kerchief is of crepe de chine and has a narrow little hand-rolled border of white—$1.25. The new flower is the zinnia, which costs about $1, and the bob of red composition to resemble sealing wax and will cost from $1.25 to $1.50 at shops of the better sort.

A HUNDRED HERRING BAKED IN A PIE

This is a famous old Lenten or Easter pie of Yarmouth town. The crust is made of flour, water and mixed butter and lard. There is enough saffron put in the crust to color it yellow when cooked. Inside the deep dish there are a hundred little herring, like sardines, properly dressed, grated onion, butter, pepper, salt and enough smooth tomato sauce to fill the pie. There is no top crust, but a few crumbs are scattered over the top. The pie is baked until the fish is done.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT An Example of Mother Love

(Copyright, 1924.)

HERE is another story of mother love going the rounds of the newspapers and making us all rub our eyes as we read and then sigh, and say, "It is always so."

One thousand miles from St. Louis Falls to Detroit, walked Mrs. Mary Hansen, a woman well beyond middle age, and all the way she had but one thought, to reach and care for her sick boy, her only child now, for the other son she lost in the great World War.

It was three weeks from the time she heard of her son's illness, that she arrived in Detroit and took up her station by his sick bed. In the snow and in the rain, over highways and paths and over fields she walked, and at last found the goal of her dreams and her toils.

Appealing to Kind Hearts.

But why did she not get help and take the trains across country, we say, not remembering the timid nature of a poor woman whose only rule was to take the road and walk to the place where she found her task awaiting her.

It would be enthralling to sit and hear from this heroine an account of her journey and of the roofs she slept under along the way. For without doubt she appealed to many a kindly heart and equally without doubt she found food, shelter and warm beds along her way.

No one need imagine that she went to the mansions along her 1000-mile trip for shelter. She called upon those of her own stunted life for what she needed, and from them she received the help she required. Now that her journey is ended she is receiving help from the American Legion—in recognition of the loss of her other son in the war. And now, without doubt, the worst of this brave woman's troubles are over. But she will never forget—and no one who knows or has heard of her will forget—that walk of a thousand miles of the mother to her son.

We sometimes smile over the stories and songs of home and mother, but when into the knowledge of the heart comes some such story as this of Mary Hansen, the fountains of tenderness in our hearts flow again.

And we sing again the old song and croon it to ourselves as we remember all we have heard and read and known of the love which never falters:

"Over my heart in the days that have flown
"No love like mother love ever has shown."

How the old lines shine out of the darkness which has enveloped them for many a year!

You don't know them?

Why, they are from a song which swept over the world one time, "Rock Me to Sleep."

Has not every earnest and lovely memory or every beautiful love and hope been expressed in song, I wonder?

Strong and Tender Still.

Here among the hurry crowds of men, women and children, breathing out into the air and cherished deep in the heart, these songs remain and though they grow old, they never die, at least until all the hearts that love them are dead.

Mother love is alive and as strong and tender as ever, we may be sure. It did not need a Mary Hansen to show us, perhaps, but, ever it is the same, some mother rises in her mighty love and tells us that the old mother love we at times forget still lives, as does all that is good and courageous and self-forgetful.

So comes the lesson in the daily press.

SOMETIMES a man's life like one great.

Sometimes a man's life like one great.

A man would have married a human being, a REASON any man got a reason, of course—if he can only think of a reason, like an ultimatum, is so apt to prove a disappointment.

CARE OF THE BATHTUB

By Hannah Wing

A Recognized Authority on Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

WHEN soapy water, or iron rust from a dripping faucet, has left the shining whiteness of the bath tub stained and discolored, a troublesome problem arises. Even owners of bright new tubs have their secret worries lest a day come when the tub ceases to shine.

The first error in the care and cleaning of porcelain or enameled ware may be one of omission. Immediate washing with hot soapy water is the best care for this kind of ware. Failure to remove soapy water or rust stains while fresh increases their troublesomeness.

The second error is scrubbing the porcelain or enamel with a strong abrasive or scouring powder, which soon scratches away the bright, hard finish and leaves dull, open surfaces, which absorb stains easily. Dirty, greasy stains are best removed by rubbing with a cloth dipped in kerosene. This removes the stain and does not harm the enamel. The kerosene is removed by washing immediately with hot soap suds and rinsing with hot water.

If the stain is deep-seated it may require whitening applied with a damp cloth. If a bleach is necessary a simple and harmless one sometimes used is paste made of cream of tartar and peroxide. Stains from iron rust may be removed by rubbing with lemon juice or vinegar.

GARDEN TIME

WHEN old winter and his legions slowly draw away, turning toward the Northern places for their summer stay, when fierce Boreas sighs faintly as his vigor dies and the welcome warmth comes creeping into azure skies; when, upon the willow branches, tender buds appear, then I know the cold is over. Spring is drawing near. With his myriad voices roaring, merry March hounds away and new violets come peeping through the sod each day. Now's the time I get to thinking of my hoe and rake, now my favored winter pastimes seem a vast mistake. Who would care for chess or checkers, who would play Mah Jong, when a

After a man has flatly contradicted his wife and been proved wrong, his notion of an apology is to remark in injured tones, "Well, I had every reason to believe I was right!"

If somebody is brutal enough to mention a woman's age and, she says, coyly, "Guess!"—always subtract 10 before you speak.

Yes, Lucille, men are above gossip. But a suburban wife gets her choicest bits of neighborhood news from her husband—who collected them in the commuters' smoker.

Daylight saving on sleeves may be a mark of immodesty, from one point of view; from another, a vaccination mark.

When a woman reminds her husband of something that he promised to do, that he ought to do, that he doesn't want to do, that he hasn't done—that's called nagging.

The eternal problem which preoccupies the sinner is how to make participation one-half of one per cent as thrilling as anticipation.

sunny little garden tempts all day long? Many fellows taking gardens all their dreams disclose when they rave about the aster, marigold and rose; when they speak of lovely lilies and the ivy vine, but my tastes are more substantial—onion sets for mine! I would never tax my muscles just to smell perfume; but it makes me mighty happy when my bean vines bloom. Lots of fellows' fancy gardens look to me like jokes; mine is filled with squash and turnips, leeks and artichokes. Maybe in esthetic circles folks don't care for state, but I'd never tend a rosebed as I do my beets. I would never rise at dawn, no, not once a year, just to get a pansy started on its glad career. So farewell, ping pong and tennis; ho! for rake and spade, gardening makes those sports look foolish, lays 'em in the shade!

HOUSEHOLD
SUGGESTIONS

Tea Stains on Linen.

Thoroughly saturate a soft cloth with glycerine and rub on the tea-stained linen. Then launder as usual and all troublesome marks will disappear.

New Potatoes.

The new potatoes are coming in and a reminder that a small amount of baking soda dissolved in the water in which the potatoes are cleaned will cause them to scrape much more quickly.

The Care of Shoes.

If you are employed and therefore wear the same pair of shoes all day, don't forget to give them a good airing at night and an occasional powdering of boracic acid. Your feet will feel the difference this treatment produces.

A Crocheting Tip.

When crocheting the edge of a nightgown yoke, hold a strong piece of crocheted cotton close to the edge and work over this as you go along. It will prevent a nasty break in the yoke from slipping it over the head hastily, as we all are prone to do.

Roly Poly Fruit Pudding.

Put eight ounces of flour into a mixing bowl with four ounces of chopped suet, a level teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of baking powder, a little grated nutmeg, two teaspoonfuls of sugar and enough water to make a rolling paste. Roll out this paste a quarter of an inch thick and spread it lightly with a little soft butter, then a mixture of a cupful of seeded raisins, two tablespoonfuls of apple sauce, a tablespoonful of finely chopped nuts, a teaspoonful of vanilla and a grating of nutmeg. Roll the dough and pinch the ends, put the pudding in a floured pudding cloth, tie it, drop it into boiling water and let it boil for two hours. A fruit sauce, a rich brown butter sauce seasoned with nutmeg and vanilla, or a hard sauce will be good with the pudding.

Peter Makes a Good Guess

The truth sometimes is rightly guessed
By those of certain facts possessed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, through the Green Forest.

OF COURSE, Peter Rabbit couldn't spend all his time watching Mr. and Mrs. Quack. Spring is a busy season with all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. Peter did his best to keep up with all that was going on. Of course, he missed a great deal. He couldn't be everywhere at once.

Now, the pond of Paddy the Beaver over in the Green Forest was one place Peter had neglected. In the first place, it was quite a journey to get there. In the second place, he had been so busy trying to learn all the news in other places that he had hardly given Paddy and his pond a thought.

But one night he stayed in the Green Forest longer than he meant to. Broad daylight found him still there. Peeping out from the edge of it and looking across the Green Meadows toward the dear Old Briar Patch Peter discovered that sailing, high overhead was Redtail the Hawk.

"That settles it," said Peter. "I would be foolish to try to reach the dear Old Briar Patch. I know what I'll do. I'll go over to the pond of Paddy the Beaver and see how Paddy is getting along."

Peter wasted no time. Away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, through the Green Forest. Every once in awhile he would stop to rest and to get his breath. Then away he went again, lipperty-lipperty-lip. So, at last he came to the pond of Paddy the Beaver. The first person he saw was Lightfoot the Deer.

Lightfoot was getting a drink. Then he caught sight of the round head of Little Joe Otter. Little Joe was swimming toward Paddy's dam. He climbed out over it and went on down the Laughing Brook.

"I wonder who I'll see next," thought Peter. "Why, as sure as Quack. Suddenly it popped into Peter's head what it all meant. He hugged himself with glee. "The Quacks have a nest over here, and Mrs. Quack is sitting on it. I just know it!" said he to himself. Then he started to hunt for Mrs. Quack and her nest. He hunted and hunted, but he didn't find it. Nevertheless he was sure that he had made a good guess, and that it was hidden somewhere near that pond. He was right. Mr. and Mrs. Quack had decided to make their home there instead of going way up to the Far North, as usual. (Copyright, 1924.)

QUICK POTATO SOUP.

A good soup that can be quickly made and served hot at school for lunch is recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture and made as follows: One quart milk, one cup grated potato, one and one-half teaspoons salt, two teaspoons butter or other fat, a few drops of onion juice. Add the potatoes to the milk. Bring to the boiling point, then add the fat, salt and onion juice. Serve with or without straining. This serves about six children with medium-sized portions, about a cupful each. Allow one and one-half cupfuls for large portions.

Holmes Cummins Found Dead in Richmond—Wife, Known as T. D. Pendleton, Dying.

By the Associated Press. RICHMOND, Va., April 2.—Holmes Cummins, Richmond business man, was found shot to death and his wife, Tula Cummins, nationally known as a writer, dangerously wounded when police broke into their apartment here yesterday.

The husband and wife shot themselves as a result of a mutual agreement, Coroner Whitfield declared the wounded woman told him. Cummins had been in ill health for several months. When police entered the apartment they found Cummins dead with a bullet wound in the head. His wife was believed to be dying with a bullet wound above the heart. A .45-caliber revolver was hanging from the man's right hand.

Officers advanced the theory that Mrs. Cummins shot herself after she passed the pistol to her husband. They believed the tragedy had taken place perhaps 12 hours before the arrival of the police. The woman was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Cummins formerly contributed to a number of popular periodicals under the pen name "T. D. Pendleton." Cummins was 54 years old. His wife's age was given as 42.

MEMPHIS, April 2.—Holmes Cummins, who was found dead in his home at Richmond, was a member of the Cummins family that has been prominent in city affairs here for more than half a century. At one time he was connected with an insurance publication in Louisville. Cummins' brother, Logan, was said to have killed himself in St. Louis several years ago.

BILL IN SENATE TO COMPEL
PAPERS TO PRINT STATEMENT

Owen's Measure Would Require Publication of Correction, Explanation or Denial.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 2.—A way to "break into print" with "factual statements" once a name has been mentioned in the Senate was pointed out in the Senate today by Senator Owen, (D-Oklahoma).

Under a bill introduced by Oklahoma Senator, newspapers, magazines would be compelled to publish any "factual statement" of correction, explanation or denial that might be submitted by person mentioned by name in previous issue, regardless of whether the reference was damaging or complimentary.

The statement or explanation would have to be "on precisely same page and position as name as the original article," and the qualification would be "proportional as to length." Papers failing to comply would be fined from the mail.
